LBJ Refuses Compromise On Rights Bill

Ultimate Test Seen for Chief's Congress Power

WASHINGTON (AP)—A no-compromise attitude on the House-passed civil rights bill seems likely to provide an ultimate test of President Johnson's ability to get controversial legislation out of Congress.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, assistant Democratic leader who will serve as Senate floor manager for the measure, said the President is completely committed to the strong terms of the House bill.

Humphrey added there would be "no wheels or deals" to gain its passage even if it takes weary weeks to break through a Southern filibuster. The measure may be brought up next week.

Humphrey's optimism that the House bill can be passed without substantial changes was not shared by Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

"There are going to be some compromises," Dirksen said in an interview. "I am going to give the administration an opportunity to compromise, and we'll see what happens."

Dirksen said he will offer a proposal calling for voluntary desegregation of hotels, motels, restaurants and other places of public accommodation. The House-approved bill would make such desegregation mandatory in a selected field.

If he can't get the Senate to accept his voluntary plan, Dirksen said he will consider falling back on an alternative proposal for compulsory integration of businesses offering food and lodging to interstate travelers.

Although Southern opponents of the House bill plan to talk at length in an effort to prevent any Senate progress toward its passage, they probably would be tempted to suspend their vocal marathon long enough to permit a vote on any proposal to water down its terms.

If that happens, a majority of the Senate would decide whether the controversial accommodations section should be changed and thus open the way to other possible alterations.

Brown Says He Would Have Quit If Taft Disallowed

MARION, Ohio (AP)—Secretary of State Ted W. Brown says he would have withdrawn as a candidate for the Republican senatorial nomination if he had been required to rule his opponent off the primary ballot.

Brown delayed certification of Robert Taft Jr. until Tuesday following a hearing on a protest lodged against Taft's petitions.

The secretary of state told newsmen at a Lincoln Day dinner here Tuesday night that had evidence produced by those protesting Taft's candidacy to disqualify Taft, he (Brown) would have made the choice.

Then, with the Republican ballot empty, he would have let the GOP organization nominate Taft to run, he said.

Brown said he now hopes the issue is past.

Author Kelland Dies After Long Illness

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Clarence Budington Kelland, 82, nationally known writer of fiction and newspaper articles, died Tuesday after a long illness. Kelland, who started his newspaper career in 1904 with the Detroit News, gained his national reputation with the Saturday Evening Post which printed 55 of his serials. He was a vice president and director of Phoenix Newspapers, Inc., which publishes the Arizona Republic and Phoenix Gazette. He was born in Portland, Mich.

Show Directors Present Gift To Hospital

$500 Check Slated To Furnish One Room at Berger

Directors of Circleville Pumpkin Show, Inc., last night approved a move to donate $500 to Berger Hospital. The money will be used to furnish a room in the hospital's new wing.

Other business conducted during a dinner meeting at Boyer's Restaurant included an election of officers and the official naming of three new directors.

Assuming the president's post is Mayor Ben H. Gordon, a position traditionally held by the city's chief executive. Renamed were James Shea as vice president, Ned Dreshbach as secretary and Roy Marshall as treasurer.

The three new directors are Orley Bosworth, Mrs. Dorothy Shadley and Mrs. Geneva Woodward. All served as chairmen in various departments last year.

DISCUSSION centered on the coming Pumpkin Show scheduled Oct. 21-24 this year. The officials commented that another top notch program is now in the making.

The $500 check was presented to Berger early today. Miss Ellen Leist, hospital administrative official, accepted the money and expressed thanks to the Pumpkin Show representatives.

New Mapping Satellite Fired

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Defense Department official has disclosed that the Air Force launched a new type of mapping satellite called Secor for the Army on Jan. 11.

Dr. Albert C. Hall of the Department's Office of Research and Engineering, included the satellite launching Tuesday in a casual listing of military space projects in a talk before the National Space Club and the Aviation-Space Writers Association.

The satellite was launched into polar orbit from the Pacific Missile Range and marked the first success in four tries.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Although the deadline has passed, the State Bureau of Motor Vehicles still is getting phone calls and notes from Ohioans who want "perfumed plates."

A "perfumed plate"—in the parlance of the trade—differs from an ordinary automobile license plate in that it has a special combination of letters or numbers and letters.

Sometimes they have significance only for the owner.

"Last year," says Dave Mainwaring, Ohio's motor vehicles registrar, "we issued 100,581 special plates, including 4,715 to amateur radio operators, 1,669 to physicians and 50 to commercial radio and television people."

Baker Refuses To Talk To Senate Probe Panel

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former Senate aide Bobby Baker refused to answer any of their questions.

Baker's records had been subpoenaed by the Senate Rules Committee which is investigating his outside business activities while employed by the Senate.

The 35-year-old one-time Senate page boss showed up without the records but with two lawyers.

Baker was with the committee in a closed session for more than an hour. When he and his lawyers came out, they told a crowd of newsmen jammed in a Senate corridor of Baker's stand.

With Baker standing at his side before TV cameras, attorney Edward Bennett Williams said he and Boris Kastelanetz, a New York tax lawyer, had advised the former Senate aide against waiving his constitutional rights.

Williams charged the rules committee with conducting "a legislative trial" of Baker, who resigned under fire last Oct. 7 as secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority.

He said he had advised the committee in advance that Baker would not produce the records, documents and memoranda called for in its subpoena.

The committee is investigating whether Baker's business and financial transactions while he was on the Senate pay roll at $19,600 a year conflicted with his official duties or involved other improprieties.

After a closed meeting of the committee Tuesday, McLendon said he thought public hearings could be concluded in less than a month.

Essential agreement between Senate and House conferees on the disputed matter of capital gains taxation eliminated the last possibility of a new fight. The law on capital gains taxation is being continued as at present, with relatively minor changes.

Wage and salary earning Americans will feel the tax cut with pay checks and envelopes reaching them probably in the first week of March. The withholding rate goes down from 18 to 14 per cent one week after the bill is signed.

Cavein Kills 3 Men

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP)—Three men were killed and a fourth injured Tuesday when the side of a 20-foot-deep ditch gave way at a construction site.

CARTHAGE, Ill. (AP)—Kissing Rock, a romantic landmark of the Carthage College campus for a half century, will be moved to Kenosha, Wis., along with the rest of the college.

The college will be relocated in the summer. Members of Beta Phi Epsilon fraternity have volunteered to truck the two-ton piece of granite to the new campus.

The stone was placed on the Carthage campus by the class of 1913. The Carthage tradition is that any male student finding a girl sitting on the rock is entitled to a kiss.

As long as the owner re-orders, the special designation never is taken away. But between 1,000 and 1,500 become available annually because of deaths, owners moving to other states or no desire to hold it.

After nearly 30 years of "perfumed plates," not too many choice combinations remain. All are issued from the bureau in Columbus, a part of the State Highway Safety Department.

Eastern U.S. Plastered by Heavy Snows

Tornadic Winds Recorded; 16-Inch Fall Hits Pennsy

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A major storm which hit southeast areas with drenching rain and tornadic winds swept into eastern sections of the nation today, dumping heavy snow in many areas.

Snow depths of 16 inches were reported in Harrisburg, including a foot in a 7-hour period. Nearly a foot of snow covered the ground in Phillipsburg, in central Pennsylvania, and in Martinsburg, W.Va. Visibility was reported zero at times in Allentown, Pa.

Heavy wet snow fell in mountain sections of North Carolina with up to 14 inches at Mount Mitchell. More than a half foot of snow was reported in the Virginia mountains.

Heavy snow warnings were in effect for the Ohio Valley and most of the middle and north Atlantic states. Amounts up to a foot were indicated in parts of the central Appalachians and southern New England.

Rain fell in some eastern areas during the night, with more than one inch reported in Delaware.

Bomb Blasts Leave Saigon Folk Jumpy

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—In bomb jumpy Saigon today a grenade was reported about to explode inside the U.S. Information Agency building, an American soldier accidentally shot a Vietnamese street vendor, and the Viet Cong radio station warned people to stay away from Americans.

All streets around the U.S. Information Agency building were blocked off during the noon-hour grenade scare.

The grenade, found in the library, turned out to be a plastic dummy.

An hour earlier a pistol fell out of the shoulder holster of a U.S. Army enlisted man several blocks from the information agency building. The pistol went off when it struck the pavement and the bullet hit a street vendor. The Vietnamese was not seriously wounded.

The Communist guerrilla radio station warned that persons near Americans are liable to be killed along with the Americans. U.S. officials regarded the broadcast as a Communist effort to scare Americans in Saigon. Since Feb. 1, six Americans have been killed and 87 wounded in terrorist incidents.

A major objective in the Communist campaign is believed to be the shattering of American morale, making a negotiated settlement and neutralization of South Viet Nam acceptable to Washington.

Ruby Trial Jury Is Still Sought

DALLAS (AP)—Two more jury candidates in Jack Ruby's murder trial were excused today when they said they would not vote the death penalty for him if he is convicted.

They were the fifth and sixth to be called.

No jurors have been seated yet.

The two were J.I. Richardson, 36, a purchasing agent; and Jesse R. Jones, 39, a foreman.

Dist. Atty. Henry M. Wade, in his usual introduction to questioning a prospective juror, said the state would ask that Ruby be executed in the electric chair, and he asked both candidates whether "you have religious or conscientious scruples against voting the death penalty."

Both said they do have.

Ruby's chief defense counsel, Melvin Belli, said he wished to make a permanent objection to excusing prospective jurors on grounds that they would not return verdict of the death penalty.

"This leaves us with a panel only of those with an affirmative state of mind on the death penalty," Belli said.

Wade had told reporters that Judge Joe B. Brown and defense and state lawyers agreed before court today that if a jury cannot be obtained from the current panel of 750 — plus 150 designated specifically for the Ruby trial — a new panel will be convened next week.

Normal jury duty in Dallas is for one week. Thus the court would dismiss those called for this week and start afresh with a new group of probably 650 prospective jurors.

After the first four prospective jurors, two men and two women, were dismissed Tuesday, Belli said he is "finally and utterly convinced that a jury cannot be had here."

But Wade said "two of the four actually did qualify."

"They had formed no preconceived opinions as to Ruby's guilt or innocence, and they said they could vote the death penalty," Wade said. "Two out

The two to whom he referred were rejected by Belli on a peremptory challenge—meaning he was not required to say why he refused to accept them.

Ruby is charged with the murder of Lee Harvey Oswald two days after the assassination of President Kennedy in Dallas last Nov. 22. Oswald had been accused of killing the president.

Broadcasts from Libreville and private advices received in Brazzaville told of the intervention by President Charles de Gaulle's armed forces in the former French colony of Equatorial West Africa.

Radio Gabon announced all the soldiers who overthrew Mba in a bloodless coup Tuesday had surrendered. Information from the radio and French sources here gave this picture:

French troops were flown into Gabon from the Congo Republic, from Senegal and other French army posts in Africa on orders from De Gaulle. Their number was not disclosed.

They overcame rebel opposition to occupy the key spots of Libreville Wednesday morning. Initial reports gave no casualty figures.

Mba, who had been held prisoner in the presidential palace, was freed and reinvested in power. His political rival, Jean Hilaire Aubame, who had been named provisional chief executive, was ousted.

In Paris, French sources said the purpose of the French military intervention was to "re-establish legality" for the benefit of the Mba administration. The Mba regime was overthrown early Tuesday in a coup which has thus far apparently remained bloodless.

Earlier resistance to the new revolutionary regime had been hinted in a Radio Gabon broadcast.

Westinghouse Plans White Collar Cutback

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Westinghouse Electric Corp. has announced a planned cutback in white collar workers in an effort to improve profits.

The firm said the reduction will be made at various plants but gave no estimate of its size.

A Westinghouse spokesman indicated head office personnel would be affected and said no cutbacks in the production force were foreseen.

E. W. Palm New President Of County Community Fund

EARL W. PALM

Earl W. Palm, Route 4, is the new president of the Pickaway County Community Fund for the coming term.

Palm was elected to the Fund's top executive post during an annual meeting last night at the Courthouse. He succeeds Donald W. Flierl of Ashville.

Stepping up to the vice president's post is Joe R. Bartz, 996 Lynwood Ave. E. G. Grigg, 905 Atwater Ave., again will serve as secretary and Kenneth Fosnaugh, 375 E. Franklin St., was named treasurer.

Named campaign chairman, one of the Fund's most important posts for each year's activity, was James A. Wilson, 170 Hillcrest Drive.

VARIOUS township, municipality and organizational trustees and representatives will be named at a later meeting, possibly the one scheduled in May.

Palm served as Fund campaign chairman in 1962 and vice president last year. He held the first treasurer's post here in 1955 when the Community Fund program was established through the efforts of the late Dr. G. D. Phillips.

The Community Fund benefits six local agencies each year. They are the Red Cross, Salvation Army, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Youth Canteen and Well Child Clinic.

Representatives and alternates for the six agencies this year are:

Ousted President Returned to Job

BRAZZAVILLE, Congo Republic (AP)—Airborne French troops upset the new revolutionary regime in neighboring Gabon today and reinstalled pro-French Leon Mba as president after a short but violent clash with insurgent Gabonese soldiers, reports from Libreville said.

Broadcasts from Libreville and private advices received in Brazzaville told of the intervention by President Charles de Gaulle's armed forces in the former French colony of Equatorial West Africa.

Radio Gabon announced all the soldiers who overthrew Mba in a bloodless coup Tuesday had surrendered. Information from the radio and French sources here gave this picture:

French troops were flown into Gabon from the Congo Republic, from Senegal and other French army posts in Africa on orders from De Gaulle. Their number was not disclosed.

They overcame rebel opposition to occupy the key spots of Libreville Wednesday morning. Initial reports gave no casualty figures.

Mba, who had been held prisoner in the presidential palace, was freed and reinstated in power. His political rival, Jean Hilaire Aubame, who had been named provisional chief executive, was ousted.

In Paris, French sources said the purpose of the French military intervention was to "re-establish legality" for the benefit of the Mba administration. The Mba regime was overthrown early Tuesday in a coup which has thus far apparently remained bloodless.

Earlier resistance to the new revolutionary regime had been hinted in a Radio Gabon broadcast. (Continued on Page Two)

E. W. Palm New President Of County Community Fund

EARL W. PALM

Earl W. Palm, Route 4, is the new president of the Pickaway County Community Fund for the coming term.

Palm was elected to the Fund's top executive post during an annual meeting last night at the Courthouse. He succeeds Donald W. Flierl of Ashville.

Stepping up to the vice president's post is Joe R. Bartz, 996 Lynwood Ave. E. G. Grigg, 905 Atwater Ave., again will serve as secretary and Kenneth Fosnaugh, 375 E. Franklin St., was named treasurer.

Named campaign chairman, one of the Fund's most important posts for each year's activity, was James A. Wilson, 170 Hillcrest Drive.

VARIOUS township, municipality and organizational trustees and representatives will be named at a later meeting, possibly the one scheduled in May.

Palm served as Fund campaign chairman in 1962 and vice president last year. He held the first treasurer's post here in 1955 when the Community Fund program was established through the efforts of the late Dr. G. D. Phillips.

The Community Fund benefits six local agencies each year. They are the Red Cross, Salvation Army, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Youth Canteen and Well Child Clinic.

Representatives and alternates for the six agencies this year are:

Robert Johnson and Mrs. Roliff Wolford, Red Cross; C. J. Heffelfinger and Charles Gerhardt, Salvation Army; E. G. Grigg and E. W. Palm, Boy Scouts; Mrs. Walter Heine and Mrs. Hewitt Cromley, Girl Scouts; J. F. O'Brien and P. F. Town, Youth Canteen; Mrs. C. W. Kirkpatrick and Mrs. J. M. Hedges, Well Child Clinic.

The agency representatives presented an outline of activities in 1963 during last night's session. Details on programs for 1964 will be submitted at later meetings.

Truck Strikes Bridge; Driver Is Injured

Charles R. Woodard, 35, Portsmouth, was admitted to Berger Hospital today for treatment of fractured ribs sustained when a truck he was driving veered out of control and struck a bridge abutment.
The accident occurred at 6 a. m. today on the Circleville-Winchester Road a little more than two miles south of the Franklin-Pickaway County line.
The truck was demolished, according to the State Highway Patrol. Woodard was cited by the OSP for driving left of center.

Fire Destroys Darbyville Home

A six room frame house was destroyed by fire early today in Darbyville.
The house, only recently remodeled according to owner Kenneth Massengale, was unoccupied at the time of the fire. It was valued at $3,700.
The Williamsport and Mt. Sterling Fire Departments answered the call. Deputy George Linder investigated for the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department. The cause was not determined.

Initial Step Is Completed For Obtaining Plant Site

Ervin Leist, director of public utilities, informed City Council last night that legal descriptions of land now being considered as the site for a proposed new sewage disposal plant here have been received.
Leist said this constitutes the first step in condemnation proceedings to possibly obtain land for the plant. The property currently under study is the Marfield tract south of Circleville, presently entailed in an estate.
The utilities official said the legal descriptions also define road easements into and out of the area, plus easements for lines that would extend to the Scioto River.
An engineering study of the land is being conducted by the Burgess & Niple firm of Columbus. The Marfield land, one of three adjoining tracts previously under consideration, has been termed the most feasible location.

LBJ Refuses

a strategy session today by Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga.
Johnson has demonstrated the ability to wangle the votes needed for a majority. But he could risk final defeat of the bill if he fails to come to some kind of terms with Dirksen and the substantial number of Republicans who follow the Illinois senator.
It has been obvious to all concerned that Humphrey and Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana now do not believe they can muster the needed support of two-thirds of those voting to cut off debate and thus open the way to action on the bill.
Furthermore, they are resigned to the likelihood that they will never fulfill the two-thirds requirement without Dirksen's active help.
The alternative is to try to wear out the filibusterers with around-the-clock sessions. But such attempts in the past usually have wound up by wearing out the majority, who have to keep 51 members on hand at all times in order to prevent adjournment for lack of a quorum. The filibusterers can rest in re-lays, keeping only a handful of their members in the chamber.

Recent Soil Publication Available

For the suburban dweller who has a soil problem in his garden, or the engineer looking for a building site, a recent publication by the United States Soil Conservation Service will come in mighty handy.
It is called "Know your Soil," and explains how soil scientists of the Department of Agriculture are gradually mapping the soils of this country and what these maps mean to every citizen.
"A copy may be obtained from the local Soil Conservation Service office, 206 1/2 S. Court St.," Don Archer, local soil technician said.
A soil is three-dimensional, according to the publication. It is bounded on the top by the surface of the land, on the bottom by rock and on the sides by other soils. The first job of the soil scientist is to distinguish between these separate soils. More than 70,000 different kinds are recognized now.
"While the original purpose of making soil surveys was to provide information to the Nation's farmers so that they could better take care of its food-producing soil, gradually more and more people in all walks of life are seeing the need to know about soil," Archer said. "Septic tanks that won't work, houses that slide from their foundations and highways that crack up, might be prevented by knowing more about soils."

News of World in Brief

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A mile-long stretch of research laboratories, office buildings, warehouses and manufacturing plants just west of Columbus was envisioned today in a plan announced by the Nationwide Development Co.
Murray D. Lincoln, company president, said the Lincoln Village "Industrial Mile," now in the engineering stage, will provide 26 building sites with an economical potential of $10 million.
The project will be located on both sides of a new street in suburban Lincoln Village to be known as Industrial Mile Road.
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Two Vietnamese air force fighter bombers have been shot down by Communist groundfire in the past 24 hours, authorities reported today. A U.S. Air Force pilot was believed killed.
Both planes downed were T28s, which normally carry a crew of two — an American pilot and a Vietnamese copilot.
COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Jack Connelly Jr. got a Municipal Court jury summons in the mail Tuesday.
"Gee," he said, "I only hope they let me out of school."
The clerical error has been corrected, and the 12-year-old boy's father will serve in his place. Connelly Sr. is an engineer with a radio station.
WASHINGTON (AP) — Families of U.S. personnel in South Viet Nam are being permitted to return home in the face of stepped-up communist terrorism.
But U.S. officials have no plans at present to order home the 1,339 American wives and children still in the embattled Southeast Asian country. Dependents are still being allowed to accompany personnel newly assigned to South Viet Nam.
So far, only a few American dependents there have asked to be sent home.
WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz reported today that assets totaling $66 billion were held in employee welfare and pension benefit plans in 1963.
He predicted that assets in such plans would reach $100 billion by 1970.
In a statement accompanying the release to Congress of the annual report on the administration of the welfare and pension plans disclosure act, Wirtz said the $66 billion figure did not include the government retirement program with reserves of more than $40 billion, and old-age, survivors and disability insurance, which has $20 billion in reserve.
WRAY, Colo. (AP) — Under-sheriff Harold Williams found $10,000 or more in cash Tuesday, apparently part of $22,864 taken in a bank holdup at Enders, Neb.
Stacks of moldy currency were found in sagebrush 18 miles north of Wray in north-eastern Colorado. The location was pinpointed in questioning of two men sentenced in the case.
AMBLER, Pa. (AP) — An explosion ripped through the front of the Negro Bethlehem Baptist church in nearby Lower Gwynedd Township Tuesday night, causing an estimated $10,000 damage.
Sgt. John Smart, of Lower Gwynedd police, said the explosion probably was set off outside the front of the building.
Police said it apparently was caused by a bomb and they ordered a tarpaulin placed over the blast area to preserve evidence.
Members of the church choir had left the church just 15 minutes before the explosion.
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is expected to appoint a St. Louis woman to attorney, Mrs. Frankie M. Freeman, to fill one of two vacancies on the U.S. Civil Rights Commission, the Washington Post said today.
Mrs. Freeman, 47, has been associate general counsel of the St. Louis Housing and Land Clearance Authorities since 1956. She is an official of the National Council of Negro women.
DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Dallas police say their ballistic tests of a mail-order rifle believed to have killed President John F. Kennedy indicates it was the same one used in an unsuccessful attack on former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker.
Walker, a former Army division commander, was near a window in his home last April working alone on his income tax return when a sniper fired at him.
Mrs. Marina Oswald, Russian born widow of Lee Harvey Oswald, the accused assassin of Kennedy, has told investigators and the Warren commission that her husband came home that night and told her he had killed the controversial former Army officer.

Federal Aid Is Sought by Watersheds

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP) — The Maumee Watershed Conservancy District has announced that the Blanchard River and South Turkeyfoot Creek are two more watersheds that are seeking federal aid for water conservation projects.
Previously, applications for such aid were approved for the Tiffin River and Flatrock Creek. Others are being prepared by local groups in the Little Auglaize, St. Marys and Ottawa River watersheds, conservancy district officials said.
The Blanchard River watershed is covered under two applications, Upper and Lower Blanchard, because of the size of the area. The Upper Blanchard drains 386 square miles of Hancock, Hardin, Seneca and Wyandot counties, and the Lower Blanchard drains 376 square miles of Allen, Hancock, Hardin and Putnam counties.
Improvement in channels, reduction of flooding, better drainage and water supplies for farms are among the objectives for the conservation projects.

Stock Mart Prices Mixed

NEW YORK (AP) — More stocks advanced than declined in a cautious stock market early this afternoon. Trading was moderately active.
Movements of most key stocks were small, a few going to a point or so.
A slightly higher trend was displayed by the leading steels, motors, rubbers and rails.
Chemicals and tobaccos were generally lower.
Brokers saw the list as hesitating just under the 800 level of the Dow Jones industrial average. Other reasons for caution were the closing of the exchanges Friday for Washington's birthday and doubt as to the effect on stock prices of final enactment of the tax-cut bill, now expected next week.
The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .1 at 294.7 with industrials off .3, rails up .3 and utilities off .1.

Rhodes Action Ruled Illegal

High Court Ousts 2 GOP Appointees
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Supreme court ordered the ouster today of administration-appointed chairmen of workmen's compensation regional review boards in Cleveland and Columbus.
The unanimous decision said Attys. Guerin Buonpane of Cleveland and Edmund B. Paxton of Columbus, were entitled to be chairmen of the respective boards at salaries of $10,500 a year. They are Democrats.

Both were supplanted as chairmen last October by Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes. The governor named Christopher J. J. French, an employee representative, to head the Cleveland board and Matthew J. Mossbacher, an employer representative, to head the Columbus board.
Buonpane and Paxton remained on their respective boards but at salaries of $9,000 annually. Terms of both expire in 1967. Their court actions contended that their salaries were cut unconstitutionally while in office.
In holding that Buonpane and Paxton are entitled to chairmanships, the high court said statute provided for three members on each board of review.
One member represents employers, another represents employees while the third "acts as a balance wheel between them and shall be chairman", the court observed.
The court added that the two members, "who were ousted from office of chairman by the action of the governor, are entitled to such offices".

Ditch Hearing Is Recessed Until Monday

A hearing on a ditch improvement petition yesterday was recessed until 2 p. m. Monday by the Pickaway County Board of Commissioners.
Final debate on the Harrison Twp. Hughes Ditch proposal was launched yesterday morning. However, the Commission decided on a delay of talks in order to allow for a further inspection of the area.
Members of the board, along with County Engineer Henry McCrady, adjourned to the ditch area later in the afternoon. More deliberation is scheduled Monday when the Commissioners and property owners involved reconvene.
Objections were voiced yesterday by three of the land owners who requested further clarification on benefits that will be derived by improving the ditch.

THE PROPOSED ditch project concerns about 21 property owners. The original petition for improvement was filed last June.
In other business this week, the Commission approved the purchase of a new pickup truck for the Pickaway County Home. The agreement called for the trade-in of a 1957 model.

Tax Statements To Go in Mail

Pickaway County property holders can expect to receive their 1964 first-half real estate tax statements beginning Monday, Treasurer Robert Wood announced today.
The last of 19 tax duplicate books was received by the treasurer's office on Monday from the county auditor, according to dates entered on the ledger, about two months late.
Wood said, so far as he knew, the delay in completing the tax duplicates by the auditor's office was due in part to the valuation reappraisal here.

Initial Step Is Completed For Obtaining Plant Site

Ervin Leist, director of public utilities, informed City Council last night that legal descriptions of land now being considered as the site for a proposed new sewage disposal plant here have been received.

Leist said this constitutes the first step in condemnation proceedings to possibly obtain land for the plant. The property currently under study is the Marfield tract

Johnson has demonstrated the ability to wangle the votes needed for a majority. But he could risk final defeat of the bill if he fails to come to some kind of terms with Dirksen and the substantial number of Republicans who follow the Illinois senator.

It has been obvious to all concerned that Humphrey and Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana now do not believe they can muster the needed support of two-thirds of those voting to cut off debate and thus open the way to action on the bill.

Furthermore, they are resigned to the likelihood that they will never fulfill the two-thirds requirement without Dirksen's active help.

The alternative is to try to wear out the filibusterers with around-the-clock sessions. But such attempts in the past usually have wound up by wearing out the majority, who have to keep 51 members on hand at all times in order to prevent adjournment for lack of a quorum. The filibusterers can rest in reality, keeping only a handful of their members in the chamber.

Recent Soil Publication Available

For the suburban dweller who has a soil problem in his garden, or the engineer looking for a building site, a recent publication by the United States Soil Conservation Service will come in mighty handy.

It is called "Know your Soil," and explains how soil scientists of the Department of Agriculture are gradually mapping the soils of this country and what these maps mean to every citizen.

"A copy may be obtained from the local Soil Conservation Service office, 206 1/2 S. Court St., Don Archer, local soil technician said.

A soil is three-dimensional, according to the publication. It is bounded on the top by the surface of the land, on the bottom by rock and on the sides by other soils. The first job of the soil scientist is to distinguish between these separate soils. More than 70,000 different kinds are recognized now.

"While the original purpose of making soil surveys was to provide information to the Nation's farmers so that they could better take care of its food-producing soil, gradually more and more people in all walks of life are seeing the need to know about soil," Archer said. "Septic tanks that won't work, houses that slide from their foundations and highways that crack up, might be prevented by knowing more about soils."

south of Circleville, presently entailed in an estate.

The utilities official said the legal descriptions also define road easements into and out of the area, plus easements for lines that would extend to the Scioto River.

An engineering study of the land is being conducted by the Burgess & Niple firm of Columbus. The Marfield tract, one of three adjoining tracts previously under consideration, has been termed the most feasible location.

APPROPRIATE legislation on the descriptive probably will be submitted at the next meeting for Council consideration. Leist said the legal information did not reach his office in time to prepare drafts for study at last night's session.

In other business, Service Director Harlow Arledge said plans for repaving and improvements on a section of E. Main St. are still under study by the State Highway Department. Preliminary planning for the project was launched more than a year ago, but was later postponed by the state.

Arledge said the state will pay most of the cost. The city will be financially responsible for engineering study and necessary planning.

A visitor for the evening was William Bourges, Zanesville - based trainmaster for the Pennsylvania Railroad. He told the solons that various complaints concerning crossings and other problems could be directed to his office.

Pennsylvania officials came under Council fire at an earlier meeting this month, due mainly to what the solons termed a lack of cooperation on the railroad's part. Most of the criticism was based on the firm's failure to properly maintain crossings here.

Bourges said he hopes future differences can be remedied through his office in Zanesville.

Gale warnings were displayed along the Atlantic Coast from Cape May, N.J. to Eastport, Maine, as the storm churned into New England. Temperatures ranged around freezing in most of the snow-rain belt.

The storm Tuesday swept from Texas through the Southeast. The drenching rains changed to snow as the storm moved northward. Strong winds lashed areas in Florida, with gusts of 54 miles an hour in Orlando. A tornado struck a desolate area near Lake Istokpoga in Highlands County.

Light snow fell in eastern parts of the central plains and in the middle Mississippi Valley while snow flurried in the Great Lakes region and in the northern Rockies. Showers sprinkled the north Pacific Coast region.

Temperatures were near zero in sections of northern New England and North Dakota but readings ranged from the 20s to the 40s in most parts of the nation.

Municipal Court Docket Lists Three Motorists

The Circleville Municipal Court traffic docket today listed three motorists cited for violations.

Appearing was Donald M. Drake, 23, of Columbus. He was fined $25 and costs when he entered a plea of guilty to a charge of speeding 85 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Forfeiting bonds were: Edwin Lane Roush, 42, Westerville; $19 bond forfeiture for speeding 70 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Buster Lee Herrell, 37, Lexington, N. C.; $24 bond forfeiture for changing lanes without caution.

Route 2 Man Handed Fine, Jail Sentence

Charles Haines, 21, also known as Danny Rutter, Route 2, was sentenced to 60 days in the county jail and handed a $50 fine by Municipal Court Judge Sterling Lamb today.

Haines entered a plea of guilty to charges of petit larceny filed by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.

He and a 17-year-old juvenile were apprehended yesterday by the sheriff. The pair was wanted for questioning concerning the theft of two automobile transmissions.

When confronted with evidence obtained by the sheriff's department, they confessed to the crime.

Young Democrats To Organize Here

Efforts are under way to establish a Young Democrats Club in Pickaway County.

An initial meeting of all interested persons will be held 8 p. m. Monday in the 4-H Grange Building at the fairgrounds. The organization will be open for membership to all Pickaway Countians between the ages of 18 and 42.

News of World in Brief

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A mile-long stretch of research laboratories, office buildings, warehouses and manufacturing plants just west of Columbus was envisioned today in a plan announced by the Nationwide Development Co.

Murray D. Lincoln, company president, said the Lincoln Village "Industrial Mile," now in the engineering stage, will provide 26 building sites with an economical potential of $10 million.

The project will be located on both sides of a new street in suburban Lincoln Village to be known as Industrial Mile Road.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Two Vietnamese air force fighter bombers have been shot down by Communist groundfire in the past 24 hours, authorities reported today. A U.S. Air Force pilot was believed killed.

Both planes downed were T28s, which normally carry a crew of two — an American pilot and a Vietnamese copilot.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Jack Connelly Jr. got a Municipal Court jury summons in the mail Tuesday.

"Gee," he said, "I only hope they let me out of school."

The clerical error has been corrected, and the 12-year-old boy's father will serve in his place. Connelly Sr. is an engineer with a radio station.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Families of U.S. personnel in South Viet Nam are being permitted to return home in the face of stepped-up communist terrorism.

But U.S. officials have no plans at present to order home the 1,339 American wives and children still in the embattled Southeast Asian country. Dependents are still being allowed to accompany personnel newly assigned to South Viet Nam.

So far, only a few American dependents there have asked to be sent home.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz reported today that assets totaling $66 billion were held in employee welfare and pension benefit plans in 1963.

He predicted that assets in such plans would reach $100 billion by 1970.

In a statement accompanying the release to Congress of the annual report on the administration of the welfare and pension plans disclosure act, Wirtz said the $66 billion figure did not include the government retirement program with reserves of more than $40 billion, and old-age, survivors and disability insurance, which has $20 billion in reserve.

WRAY, Colo. (AP) — Under-sheriff Harold Williams found $10,000 or more in cash Tuesday, apparently part of $22,864 taken in a bank holdup at Enders, Neb.

Stacks of moldy currency were found in sagebrush 18 miles north of Wray in north-eastern Colorado. The location was pinpointed in questioning of two men sentenced in the case.

AMBLER, Pa. (AP) — An explosion ripped through the front of the Negro Bethlehem Baptist church in nearby Lower Gwynedd Township Tuesday night, causing an estimated $10,000 damage.

Sgt. John Smart, of Lower Gwynedd police, said the explosion probably was set off outside the front of the building.

Police said it apparently was caused by a bomb and they ordered a tarpaulin placed over the blast area to preserve evidence.

Members of the church choir had left the church just 15 minutes before the explosion.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is expected to appoint a St. Louis woman attorney, Mrs. Frankie M. Freeman, to fill one of two vacancies on the U.S. Civil Rights Commission, the Washington Post said today.

Mrs. Freeman, 47, has been associate general counsel of the St. Louis Housing and Land Clearance Authorities since 1956. She is an official of the National Council of Negro women.

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Dallas police say their ballistic tests of a mail-order rifle believed to have killed President John F. Kennedy indicates it was the same one used in an unsuccessful attack on former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker.

Walker, a former Army division commander, was near a window in his home last April working alone on his income tax return when a sniper fired at him.

Mrs. Marina Oswald, Russian born widow of Lee Harvey Oswald, the accused assassin of Kennedy, has told investigators and the Warren commission that her husband came home that night and told her he had killed the controversial former Army officer.

TOKYO (AP) — Red China told the United States today not to hope for a less rigid "second echelon" of Chinese Communist leadership with which it could do business.

In a reaffirmation of Chinese Communist policy, the official Peking People's Daily rejected U.S. conditions for improvement in Chinese-American relations as "most preposterous."

The paper said Red China could not under any circumstances be dissuaded from supporting Asian revolutionary movements. It also again demanded U.S. military withdrawal from the Nationalist-held island of Formosa and the rest of Asia.

BLOEMFONTEIN, South Africa (AP) — Archbishop W. P. Whelan says the Roman Catholic Church does not oppose racial segregation by a nation.

"The time is ripe to set out the official attitude of the Church," said the Catholic Archbishop of Bloemfontein in a statement as press director of the administrative board of the South African Catholic Bishops' conference.

The archbishop said the situation in white supremacist South Africa has its defects, but it is stable, and full of prospects for development.

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — An American Air Force policeman shot and wounded a South Korean trespasser Tuesday at the U.S. air base at Osan, about 25 miles south of Seoul. It was the fifth such shooting at a U.S. military camp in Korea this month. Three other Koreans have been killed and three wounded.

LONDON (AP) — Britain's first Polaris submarine is to be named the Resolution. The keel of the ship will be laid next week and she is to go into service in 1968.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The Iraqi government has earmarked $5 million to pay its share of the anti-Israeli measures agreed on at the Cairo meeting of Arab chiefs of state.

PARIS (AP) — Italian President Antonio Segni arrived today for a four-day visit to France.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Composer Ben Oakland, whose songs include "I'll Take Romance," has decided to do just that.

Oakland and Mrs. Beatrice Rosensus, a board member of the Jewish Federation Council, announced they'll marry March 8.

LONDON (AP) — Prince Andrew, second in line to the British throne, is 4 years old today. He'll celebrate with a party at Buckingham Palace for about a dozen friends.

KITZBUHEL, Austria (AP) — Prince Carlos de Bourbon-Parma joined his fiancée, Princess Irene of the Netherlands, in this plush resort today for a skiing vacation.

The Spanish prince checked into a hotel just 50 yards from the chalet where the princess is staying.

5 Handicapped Pupils Hurt in Bus Collision

MENTOR, Ohio (AP) — Five handicapped children were taken to Lake County Memorial Hospital in Willoughby today after their small school bus was hit head-on by an auto.

One girl, Patty Melinkas, 15, was admitted with possible internal injuries. The children were from 10 to 17-years-old. Three are deaf and one is partly blind.

Federal Aid Is Sought by Watersheds

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP) — The Maumee Watershed Conservancy District has announced that the Blanchard River and South Turkeyfoot Creek are two more watersheds that are seeking federal aid for water conservation projects.

Previously, applications for such aid were approved for the Tiffin River and Flatrock Creek. Others are being prepared by local groups in the Little Auglaize, St. Marys and Ottawa River watersheds, conservancy district officials said.

The Blanchard River watershed is covered under two applications, Upper and Lower Blanchard, because of the size of the area. The Upper Blanchard drains 386 square miles of Hancock, Hardin, Seneca and Wyandot counties, and the Lower Blanchard drains 376 square miles of Allen, Hancock, Hardin and Putnam counties.

Improvement in channels, reduction of flooding, better drainage and water supplies for farms are among the objectives for the conservation projects.

Feeding Mao's Ego

In severe denunciation of Soviet leadership, the Red Chinese regime has characterized Premier Khrushchev and his buddies as the most dangerous enemies of communist unity. It calls them the greatest of all revisionists, and—borrowing a phrase from Khrushchev himself—predicts they will be “buried,” presumably by the Chinese.

This end to the lull in the war of words between Moscow and Peking is not really surprising. Despite a few chiding words from the Kremlin, nothing has really been done to heal the split between the communist countries. It was a bout time for epithets to be exchanged again.

Beyond this, one is tempted to wonder if recent world events relating to

Red China did not inspire Peking to sound off again. Mao Tse-tung and his cohorts have reason to be newly cocky. After all, a semi-major western nation, France, has just accorded the Peking regime diplomatic recognition.

Further, President De Gaulle has hailed Red China as the key to any settlement in Southeast Asia. This is heady stuff to Peking. It confirms China's co-equal status with the USSR within the communist camp, and its eminence in world affairs.

Red China will not be more tractable once relations with it have been “normalized,” as De Gaulle naively contends. Peking is already acting like a show-off who has been encouraged.

Exciting Day 66 Years Ago

The most exciting “extras” ever appeared on the streets 66 years ago. The extras announced the destruction of the battleship Maine, in Havana harbor, and the loss of 260 American seamen.

Sinking of the Maine set the stage for the Spanish - American War, which began the next April, and ended in four months — the shortest war in American history.

Two days before actual fighting started Commodore Dewey destroyed the Spanish fleet in Manila harbor. After war had been declared thousands of Americans rushed to enlist, and veterand of that conflict are still living, members of Spanish - American War Veterans.

The outcome was liberation of Cuba, where the people had been long oppressed by Spain's colonial policies. The United States acquired the Philippines, paying Spain $20 million for permanent improvements on the islands.

Today the war is all but forgotten, overshadowed by later conflicts of worldwide character. The anniversary of the sinking of the Maine is no longer observed. But the event 66 years ago was an exciting day in the nation.

Ice Age in Britain?

Britons usually present a stoic countenance, unchanged by tribulations or prosperity, to the world. Even when Londoners are compelled to grope their way to work on blind instinct, let anyone so much as suggest the weather is a bit dismal and he'll drink his tea alone that day.

This is why Hubert Lambs is probably the most ostracized man in England. Lamb not only predicts the possibility of an ice age in Britain, but he has the authority of official weather forecasting behind him.

Lamb, a member of the meteorological office team which compiles long-range weather forecasts for Britain, has found what he is convinced is an 800-year cycle in English weather. Unfortunately for the island, if his research is correct, the second cycle is just getting under way.

Looking back at the twelfth century, the weather expert found a marked deterioration in British weather which climaxed in the ice age of the sixteenth century. Harsh winters and wet summers were the rule.

The last two winters have been record cold seasons for Britain, a fact many Britons would rather not be reminded of so dramatically by the weathermen.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—Ideas on how to cut unemployment are almost as numerous as persons out of work. Everyone is against large-scale unemployment. But often he's also against the other fellow's plan for making more jobs.

On the same day this week that the secretary of labor was making a plea for cutting down overtime to spread the work, labor leaders were advocating shorter work weeks with the same goal in view, and the president of the nation's second largest bank was saying both schemes were unsound and more harmful than helpful.

Tax cut advocates were sure their goal would solve the problem by boosting the economy. Some union leaders were saying higher wage scales would do the trick better by getting the money where it counts.

Government economists were urging labor and management to work closer on all problems, chronic or acute, including the role of automation in the loss of jobs.

Some saw more education and discouragement of student drop-outs as the cure. And plans for retraining those whose jobs had been eliminated were as varied in size and scope as they were numerous.

Earlier retirements appealed to many in labor ranks—especially the younger ones. The United Automobile Workers Union was reported studying a scheme whereby the work week of workers over the age of 60 would be progressively shortened. This would let the older worker “get used to retirement ahead of time” — and provide more of the available work for the younger ones.

The steel industry is trying longer vacations for senior workers.

Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz' assault on the recent increase in overtime when so many are out of work was in support of an administration plan to set higher rates for overtime in industries where it figured that that would make employers create more jobs instead. But the secretary was against the plan of many union labor leaders to cut the official work week to 35 hours from 40.

In the auto industry overtime averaged 5.4 hours last October. The union figured wiping that out would add 60,000 jobs.

Wirtz, looking at office jobs, said 1.5 million clerical workers currently work 41 or more hours a week while 400,000 others are looking for office jobs. The administration contends that making overtime too expensive would create more jobs.

But David Rockefeller, president of the Chase Manhattan Bank, told a Detroit audience that raising overtime pay from time and a half to double time was a defeatist approach, and a 35-hour week would also be inadequate.

Many employers have taken the same line: Double time pay for overtime would increase costs without creating many jobs, since much overtime is on an emergency basis to meet a rush of orders, equipment breakdowns or worker absenteeism. If it cost too much the employer was more likely to just eliminate it, thereby losing the order or delaying shipment; the worker would lose the extra pay he now gets at times; the consumer might have to pay higher prices because of higher costs.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

I recently read that psoriasis is not harmful to health. I have had it for 18 years and have learned to live with it. I am now caring for a woman who has been taking as much as eight drops of arsenic a day for psoriasis.

She claims that her rash becomes better when she takes this medicine. I have noticed, however, that she has been losing her hair and her toenails. Isn't it dangerous for her to be taking this medicine?

Mrs. J.B.N., Minnesota
Dear Mrs. N.: Arsenic in small doses has been used in medicine for a wide variety of conditions. Before the beginning of the use of antibiotics, arsenicals were actively used in the treatment of syphilis. Certainly, your friend's treatment for psoriasis must have been instituted by a doctor, for arsenic cannot be purchased without a doctor's prescription.

There is an unfortunate tendency for patients to continue treatment with prescribed medications for indefinite periods. Psoriasis is a chronic and a recurring skin condition that is unsightly and sometimes embarrassing. Scaliness of the skin of the knees, legs, scalp and elbows becomes severely distressing. So little is known about its origin and cure that patients in their distraction often resort to dangerous forms of treatment.

The continued use of arsenic may be responsible for the loss of hair and of nails. Certainly, these signs should not be overlooked. It would be extremely wise to stop all medication and have the skin condition re-evaluated by her doctor. There are now a number of new possibilities for the treatment of psoriasis. Sunlight, cortisone and ACTH, under supervision may have all the advantages of the arsenicals without as many potential dangers.

I hope you can straighten me out on something. I have two babies. One is 20 months old and the other is six months old. Neither one wants to drink water. I am worried about them, even though they seem to be happy and are growing well. How do they get the water necessary for their health?

Mrs. A.S., Illinois
Dear Mrs. S.: Many foods are largely composed of water. It is surprising how much water is contained in milk, fruit juices and ordinary vegetables. Infants have a remarkable way of satisfying their own water requirements. Their water needs may not be as great as the mother thinks they are. The fact that your babies are thriving is an excellent index that their nutrition and water intake are probably adequate.

You may notice that the children, of their own accord, may begin to take water during times of infection, especially when they have fever. In severely hot, humid weather infants and children change their water-drinking habits.

Dr. Benjamin Spock wisely suggests that "If your baby won't take his water plain, you can try him on sugar water." This may be a little more tempting and more palatable.

Your apparent concern about your problem really does not have any basis in fact. However, you do have a right to have your anxiety lessened. Consultation with your physician will quickly dispel the anxieties you have been unnecessarily harboring for such a long time.

Wealth's Price Tag Too High

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Curbstone comments of a Pavement Plato:

Why aren't there more financially successful people in America?

If it is true, as much of the rest of the world suspects, that we are a dollar-mad nation, why aren't more of us rich? While as a country we are astonishingly wealthy, the individual man of vast wealth is still something of a rarity to most of us.

The favorite native American legend is the Horatio Alger success story, the tale of the poor boy who claws and paws his way to the big money by hard work and other virtues.

Because of this rags-to-riches legend, foreigners often conclude that this is the main goal and dream of most Americans—to become Horatio Alger-type heroes themselves.

The chief goal of most Americans is better expressed in the popular wisecrack, "I don't want to be a millionaire—I just want to live like one."

Many of us enjoy creature comforts unavailable to millionaires only a generation or so ago, and all of us have pleasures unknown even to kings of the 18th century.

The average U.S. old age pensioner today owns a better-fitting pair of false teeth than King George III could buy with all the gold in the British treasury. He can also sit at home and watch a baseball game on television, a privilege never achieved by Genghis Khan, Peter the Great of Russia, or Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany.

There is no mystery about becoming a millionaire. It is a wide open secret.

Dozens of millionaires have written memoirs in which they clearly chart the path to great personal wealth.

The trouble with all these recipes is that they point inevitably to the old truism—you don't get something for nothing.

To make a million dollars the hard way, you have to sacrifice something else—leisure, friendship, loafing, or sporting with Amaryllis in the shade.

Some millionaires later in life believe the great concentration of effort that made them rich was worthwhile. Others think what they lost was hardly worth the gain. But few really yearn to be poor again.

The reason why there aren't more millionaire Americans is that most Americans think the price tag required is too high. Money isn't really that important to them. They'd rather spend the time being with their families, drinking, bowling, chasing girls, or going hunting or fishing.

Miller's New Mold

By John Chamberlain

Having witnessed a performance of Arthur Miller's new play, "After the Fall," at the Anta Washington Square Theatre the other night, I am encouraged to believe that the sterile "liberalism" of the past thirty years in American intellectual attitudes is truly on its way out.

The play was astounding because Mr. Miller has been one of our more conventionally unconventional "liberals." In the past he has always delivered a stock response to almost any social question. His first play, "All My Sons," swallowed the propaganda that wicked armament makers keep wars going for profit. His "Death of a Salesman" plugged the well-known theory that "society" is always to blame for an individual's shortcomings. His "The Crucible," which I caught up with a few weeks ago in an Eva Le Gallienne road company production, was an attempt to make Communist spy-hunting synonymous with witch-hunting in old Salem. The fact that all these early plays by Miller are crudely powerful as drama cannot disguise the truth that the author, as a philosophical thinker, er, has had just about the depth and originality of one of Pavlov's dogs.

In "After the Fall," however, Miller ceases to be predictable. He has tossed his old "liberal" conditioned reflexes into the melting pot, and the mixture that is coming out is evidence that Arthur Miller has begun to think as well as dramatize.

This is the first Miller play to recognize that, in trying to understand the human predicament, there are no easy answers. In place of cheap resolutions of philosophical issues, there is a groping for something better than the big social cliché. In "The Crucible," a product of the period in which Mr. Miller thought he was being subjected to "McCarthyite" persecution, the effort was made to put all investigations into social and religious attitudes and activities on an equal footing. In short, Mr. Miller was saying that Communist conspirators and witches are manifestations of the same type of social rebelliousness, neither of which should be subjected to State inquiry. The fact that witches are a pure fabrication of the mind, while Communist conspirators are often all too dangerously real, apparently made no difference to the Miller who was bent on using the doings in old Salem as the basis for a parable.

Well, in "After the Fall" Mr. Miller at last recognizes in some byplay in his first act that there can be decency in a full confession as well as in a refusal to confess.

More important, however, is Mr. Miller's recognition that human beings must, if "society" is to remain workable, assume the responsibility for their own behavior. Unlike the Willy Loman of "Death of a Salesman," the too-much-married Quentin of "After the Fall" is not presented as a blameless victim of his genes, his glands, his upbringing, and the social system of capitalism. Quentin has to learn the hard way, but he fights his way through to a realization that the human being must balance an awareness of his own personal shortcomings with a willingness to forgive himself and to try to make a new life on the basis of what experience has taught.

This is not to argue that there are no lapses of taste in "After the Fall." One of Mr. Miller's own wives was the late Marilyn Monroe, the "love goddess," and Mr. Miller has been all too degradingly literal in putting his own "image" of Miss Monroe on the stage. Since Marilyn Monroe isn't alive to answer back, and since Joe DiMaggio, one of the love goddess's ex-husbands who has cherished her memory, is too gallant to dignify attacks on Miss Monroe with an answer, Mr. Miller's procedure strikes one as a trifle unfair. It apparently did not cross his mind that the man who had refused to rat on old Communist friends might logically be expected to take the Fifth Amendment in connection with his wives. He might at least have made Marilyn a brunette and the ex-wife of an astrophysicist or something in transforming her into the Maggie of "After the Fall."

However, taste is one thing and the ability to think is another. One can only cheer now that Mr. Miller has burst the mold of "liberalism."

Feeding Mao's Ego

In severe denunciation of Soviet leadership, the Red Chinese regime has characterized Premier Khrushchev and his buddies as the most dangerous enemies of communist unity. It calls them the greatest of all revisionists, and—borrowing a phrase from Khrushchev himself—predicts they will be “buried,” presumably by the Chinese.

This end to the lull in the war of words between Moscow and Peking is not really surprising. Despite a few chiding words from the Kremlin, nothing has really been done to heal the split between the communist countries. It was a bout time for epithets to be exchanged again.

Beyond this, one is tempted to wonder if recent world events relating to

Red China did not inspire Peking to sound off again. Mao Tse-tung and his cohorts have reason to be newly cocky. After all, a semi-major western nation, France, has just accorded the Peking regime diplomatic recognition.

Further, President De Gaulle has hailed Red China as the key to any settlement in Southeast Asia. This is heady stuff to Peking. It confirms China's co-equal status with the USSR within the communist camp, and its eminence in world affairs.

Red China will not be more tractable once relations with it have been “normalized,” as De Gaulle naively contends. Peking is already acting like a show-off who has been encouraged.

Britons are currently on a terrific betting binge, social workers and church leaders, there complain. However, whether anything can be done to slow it down sure is a gamble.

A survey shows more than $2.5 billion was wagered in the United Kingdom last year. That definitely isn't penny-ante.

Britain now has some 14,388 betting offices and that's far more horse parlors than the nation had livery stables when the one-hoss shay was still in full bloom.

Meanwhile, we read that in Nebraska an elevator got out of order and traveled up and down, passing a total of 300 floors before it could be stopped. Good grief—don't tell us that gadgets, too, are now trying for world records!

Whales are unable to utter a sound since they have no vocal chords, and many are unable to smell—nature item. Just a big nothing?

Miss Boggs, Mr. Carpenter Nuptials Planned April 3

MISS DOROTHY BOGGS

Mr. and Mrs. Charles N. Boggs, 146 W. Mound St., announce the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy, to Mr. James W. Carpenter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley J. Carpenter, 713 N. Pickaway St.

Miss Boggs is a graduate of Miami University and is associated with the Deb Shop, W. Main St.

Mr. Carpenter is a graduate of Dennison University and received a Masters Degree in business administration from Ohio State University. He is a member of Delta Upsilon and is now associated with Anchor Hocking Glass Corp., Lancaster.

The wedding will be an event of April 3 at St. Philip's Episcopal Church.

Mrs. Sweigart Feted with Farewell Party

Mrs. Jeanette Armstrong, Dunmore Road, entertained the Dietary Dept. of Berger Hospital in honor of Mrs. Robert Sweigart who will be leaving soon to make her home in Wooster.

The evening was spent playing games and visiting. Those present were, Mrs. C. D. Rector, Mrs. Grace Anderson, Mrs. Lawrence Hoover, Mrs. James Binkley, Mrs. Helen Wright, Miss Nancy Meyers, Mrs. Jeanette Armstrong and the guest of honor. A salad course was served. The group presented Mrs. Sweigart with a gift.

Scioto Chapel Women's Group Has Meeting

Mrs. Mabel Isham, Mrs. C. W. Wilson and Mrs. Jack Philo were hostesses when the Scioto Chapel Women's Society, formerly the Scioto Chapel Ladies met in the newly decorated parish house.

"In the service of the King" was the opening hymn. Mrs. Cecil Ward read the psalm and "A Layman and His Faith" followed by a prayer.

The routine business reports were presented. Mrs. Harold Fee read a card of thanks received from Marion Ward. Plans have been set to change the bazaar to accompany the November supper. Mrs. Fee announced a roast beef and ham supper will be held in the parish house April 25. March 4, was designated as clean-up day in preparation for the dedication at the church March 13.

Mrs. John Dawson, sister of Mrs. Henry Hanson, presented a program of slides and commentary about her tour in Europe.

A dessert course was served by the hostesses at the close of the meeting. Mrs. Ben Walker won the lucky plate prize. Sixteen members and four guests, Mrs. Francis Hoover, Mrs. Threlkell, Mrs. Betty Willoughby and Mrs. John Dawson were present.

Rummage Sale Planned by Church Group

The Altar and Rosary Society of St. Joseph's Catholic Church met recently in the church basement.

During the business meeting conducted by Margaret Goodie, president, plans were discussed for a roast beef dinner to be held in the near future. It was also announced by Mrs. Paul R. Porter, chairman of the finance committee, that a Rummage Sale will be held in April.

Mrs. George Hamrick, chairman of the program committee, presented a film on citizenship entitled "This Is America".

During the social hour refreshments were served by Mrs. Paul Wang and members of the hostess committee.

Mrs. Evans To Host Nurses Assn. Friday

Mrs. Francis Evans, 444 E. Main St., will host members of the Practical Nurses Assn., 8 p. m. Friday.

Guild 23 To Meet

Berger Hospital Guild No. 23 will meet 8 p. m. Thursday in the home of Mrs. Norman Kutler, 1110 Atwater Ave.

Women's News The Circleville Herald, Wed. Feb. 19, 1964 Circleville, Ohio

Auxiliary Fetes Husbands

The Lion's Auxiliary entertained their husbands with a Valentine Party and carry - in dinner Sunday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Forest Thomerson, Woodland Drive.

A carry - in dinner was served buffet style to 17 couples. The tables were decorated with a red and white theme. After dinner each was given a numbered valentine and this paired the couples for playing "Dubs Bridge".

Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Bob Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Starkey, and Mr. Sam Cook. Mrs. Thomerson, president, conducted a short business meeting. Each husband received a valentine gift from the Auxiliary.

Those attending were, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Garold Crites, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Curlett, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dick, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Griest, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Nau, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Altmeyer, Mr. and Mrs. James Peters, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Radcliffe, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Starkey, Mr. and Mrs. George Wharton, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Woodward, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Chapman, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilson.

Annual Style Show Planned

Plans are being completed by the Ashville Women's Civic Club for their annual style show, "A Touch of Paris" to be presented Mar. 10 in the Teays Valley High School Auditorium.

Fashions this year will be presented by Sharif's Women's Apparel of Circleville exclusive. Teens through the matrons have been chosen to model the latest in spring and summer fashions. A complete line of play and beach clothes will be an added attraction this year.

A well known television personality is being secured to headline the program and act as mistress of ceremonies. Commenting on the fashions will be Bernie Turner of Circleville.

The style show will be held in the auditorium instead of the cafeteria. This will be to the advantage of everyone, as seeing and hearing will be no problem.

Following the show, a dessert course will be served in the gaily decorated cafeteria where guests will be seated and served from tea carts. Many door prizes have been donated from merchants in and around the community. Table favors also will be given.

Tickets, at a nominal fee, are on sale now from club members. A limit of 400 tickets will be sold to the public. High school students may purchase tickets at school through Mrs. Phoebe Engle or Miss Nelle Oesterle. Grade School students at Ashville may purchase them

The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Gerhardt, 1111 Atwater Ave.

Husbands Night Observed by Women's Club

The Circleville Junior Women's Club, a member of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs held the annual "Husbands Night" at Prairie Lakes.

Mrs. Ronald Spence opened the meeting followed by devotions by Mrs. Conna Whitmore. Announcements of importance were made.

A carry - in chicken dinner was served to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Weaver, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stoldt, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wolfe, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Spence, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pettit, Dr. and Mrs. Manuel Sanguily, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. Don Colegrove, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Linton, Mr. and Mrs. David La Bounty, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wellington.

Mrs. La Bounty and Mrs. Wellington were welcomed as new members.

Following the dinner an evening of bowling was enjoyed. Prizes were won by Mrs. Jack Stoldt and Mr. David La Bounty. The next meeting will be held Mar. 5 at St. Phillips Parish Hall. Guest speaker will be Dr. Jack Setreck from Ohio State University.

Ashville GC Holds Session

Mrs. E. R. Gregg discussed "Unusual Perennials" when the Ashville Garden Club met recently in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hedges.

Mrs. Ben Nothstine, vice-president, presided. A collection of seed catalogues was inspected.

The March meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Nothstine.

Girl Scout Thinking Day To Be Observed

Girl Scout Thinking Day will be observed 2:30 p. m. Sunday at the 4-H and Grange Building, Pickaway County Fairgrounds.

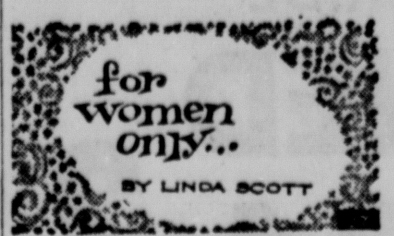

The Logan Neighborhood Girl Scouts and Five Trails Neighborhood Girl Scouts will participate.

Family Circle Sets Carry-in Dinner

The Family Circle of Trinity Lutheran Church will hold a carry-in dinner beginning 6:30 p. m. Sunday.

Dear Abby: by Abigail Van Buren It Ain't So, Is It?

DEAR ABBY: I beg to differ with your reply to that mail carrier's wife who thought some of the women on his route were after him. You said that most women were interested in their MAIL, not her MALE. Well, my son was a meter reader. He

If the children are inclined to wash and run, leaving towels on the floor instead of on the rack, you can foil them by sewing snap type fasteners to the ends of the towel. Drape the towel over the rack, snap the fasteners and it's there to stay. Another method: Secure the towel with safety pins.

It's possible to keep your personal telephone directory up to date and neat appearing too, if you write the numbers in pencil even though you may write the names in ink. By erasing numbers and penciling in new ones whenever changes occur you avoid cluttering up the book with corrections.

Dull scissors can be sharpened quickly by cutting sandpaper with them, using two pieces of sandpaper placed back to back with the rough sides showing. Similarly, pinkish shears can be sharpened by cutting through double fold of aluminum foil several times.

After washing a hooded sweat-shirt or sweater, stuff the hood with a balloon blown to size. Holds it open while it dries to shape.

Mrs. Adkins To Host Members of Circle C

Mrs. J. W. Adkins Jr., 315 Northridge Road, will host members of Circle C of the First Presbyterian Church, 1:30 p. m. Thursday.

DEAR ABBY: We have been married 12 years and have 3 children. We have plenty of beds so that each of us can sleep alone now. My husband complained that he was crowded, so I changed our double bed for twin beds. Now, every night the children argue over whose turn it is to sleep with Daddy. I try to force the "each to his own bed" rule, but my husband overrides my objections with the argument that he "doesn't mind." But the next morning he complains to me that the kids thrashed around and he couldn't get any rest. But the next night it's the same story. What's wrong with this picture?

DEAR ABBY: HIS sleepless nights are the least of what's wrong. Children should not get into the habit of sleeping with their parents.

DEAR ABBY: I've managed to live 47 years without writing anyone for advice, but something happened the other day that I would appreciate a comment on. A friend of mine dropped in unexpectedly, and I explained to her that I was expecting my son and his wife at any moment. I told her that I had never met my daughter-in-law, but my son said she was a shy little thing, and I thought it might be easier for her to meet her mother-in-law alone for the first time. My friend didn't take the hint. Rather, she said "I would like to meet the girl--aren't you going to ask me to sit down?" I told her as nicely as I could that I thought it would be better if she came back the next afternoon for tea, and met her then. She left in a huff. How could I have handled a situation like that more tactfully?

DEAR WONDERING: I think you handled an awkward situation with admirable finesse.

Dear Abby: by Abigail Van Buren

It Ain't So, Is It?

DEAR ABBY: I beg to differ with your reply to that mail carrier's wife who thought some of the women on his route were after him. You said that most women were interested in their MAIL, not her MALE. Well, my son was a meter reader. He

If the children are inclined to wash and run, leaving towels on the floor instead of on the rack, you can foil them by sewing snap type fasteners to the ends of the towel. Drape the towel over the rack, snap the fasteners and it's there to stay. Another method: Secure the towel with safety pins.

It's possible to keep your personal telephone directory up to date and neat appearing too, if you write the numbers in pencil even though you may write the names in ink. By erasing numbers and penciling in new ones whenever changes occur you avoid cluttering up the book with corrections.

Dull scissors can be sharpened quickly by cutting sandpaper with them, using two pieces of sandpaper placed back to back with the rough sides showing. Similarly, pinkish shears can be sharpened by cutting through double fold of aluminum foil several times.

After washing a hooded sweat-shirt or sweater, stuff the hood with a balloon blown to size. Holds it open while it dries to shape.

Mrs. Adkins To Host Members of Circle C

Mrs. J. W. Adkins Jr., 315 Northridge Road, will host members of Circle C of the First Presbyterian Church, 1:30 p. m. Thursday.

Children Of Watusi Live in Terror

USUMBURA, Burundi (AP)—It is a time of terror for Watusi children. Misery attends the young descendants of a lordly race which for 400 years headed a feudal society in the equatorial African land that is now Rwanda.

Ill-clad and hungry, hundreds of waifs are fleeing into Burundi from massacres by the stocky Bahutus, ex-slaves, that have swallowed up their aristocratic parents.

Sometimes the children are led by a tall and slender elder who survived the tribal warfare that missionaries estimate has cost the lives of up to 20,000 Tutsis in the past three months.

Sometimes, ragged and ailing from exposure, they come alone to a new life in refugee camps set up for them by the Burundi government within a few miles of the frontier.

Refugee relief organizations are trying to truck in supplies to keep pace with the growth of the camps. About 22,000 refugees already are on hand.

Backgrounding the trouble is the old enslavement of Bahutus by the brown-skinned Watusis. That developed when the Watusis moved their cattle herds southward — apparently from Ethiopia — in the 16th century to the lush pasturage between Lake Victoria and Lake Tanganyika.

Rwanda was part of a Belgian protectorate when the Bahutus, a pure-blooded Negro tribe, rebelled against the Watusis and drove out many to neighboring countries in 1959.

The current bloodshed started late last year when Inyenzi bands, challenging the modern weapons of Rwanda's Belgion-suffered army of 1,200 Bahutus, launched a series of raids across the frontier in a desperate bid to retake the country.

FB Manager Resigns Post

Robert Sweigert, 168 Montclair Ave., announced today that he has resigned his post as manager of the Landmark Farm Bureau Co-op on W. Mound St.

Sweigert will be associated with the McIntire Funeral Home Wooster.

He and his wife, Jean, are scheduled to move to Wooster in the near future. Former residents of the Wayne County city, they have resided in Circleville for 3½ years.

Daytonian, 74, Killed During Argument

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Homicide officers were probing the death of Fred Evans Johnson, 74, of Dayton, shot to death Tuesday night on the West Side after an argument.

A man identified as Steve Searce, 50, of Dayton was shot in the ear and received medical treatment. The coroner's office said the shooting apparently followed an argument between Johnson and Searce.

Council Measure Opposes Issuance of Liquor Permit

City Council last night adopted a resolution listing a formal objection against the possible issuance of a liquor permit in the vicinity of Walnut St. Elementary School.

The legislation was the first of this type here since the State Department of Liquor Control recently established a new procedure in granting permits. The method now in use calls for either approval or objection by city government.

The city's stand on the matter then supposedly has a bearing on whether or not a liquor license is granted to the requesting firm or agency.

Request for the liquor permit was filed by Glenn D. Stumbo for a store at the northwest corner of Logan and Washington Sts.

PRIOR to its legislative action, Council heard the reading of a protest petition signed by about 90 persons living in the general vicinity of the store. Three residential representatives of the area were present to voice comments against issuance.

Added to the opposition was a written objection from the Circleville Board of Education that pointed out the store's close proximity to Walnut School. Council's resolution also noted that a church is located a block away at Logan and Pickaway Sts.

The opposition measure was adopted on a 7-0 vote. A copy will be forwarded to the Department of Liquor Control.

The liquor permit legislation was one of four resolutions and two ordinances gaining Council approval during the evening.

Two of the resolutions authorized local construction firms to terminate performance bonds for the erection of curbs, gutters and streets in specified subdivision areas. Permission was granted to the J. Boyd Stout Co. for such facilities at the Garden Center Subdivision. Similar approval was given to the White Bros. Construction Co. for satisfactory completion of curbs and sidewalks in Sherwood No. 1 Subdivision.

Approval for such termination normally comes after the city service director has inspected the sites and found the facilities satisfactory. Councilman David Crawford suggested that the solons' service committee take a more active part in the future inspection of facilities. He said this will aid the service director and serve as a guide in helping Council reach a decision on the bond termination.

ANOTHER resolution authorized the Board of Public Utilities to advertise for bids for cast iron pipe, valves and fittings for 1964. Specifications are on file in the Water & Sewerage Department offices on W. Franklin St.

One of the two ordinances calls for appropriation of $1,000 for purchase of new equipment for the Circleville Fire Department.

The other ordinance grants permission to the city safety director to enter into a contract for mutual aid fire protection between Circleville and Harrison Twp. According to officials here, fire protection in the Ashville-Harrison Twp. area will come under township authority, with Ashville to be protected on a contract basis.

Slaying of Divorcee Probed in Vandalia

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Police searched for clues today in the fatal shooting of Joan Marie Rosario 28-year-old divorcee whose body was found Tuesday near Cassel Road in nearby Vandalia.

Detective Harlan Grooms of the Montgomery County sheriff's office said the woman had been shot in the head four times.

LBJ 18-Hour Working Day Said 'Ironic'

DETROIT (AP) — President Johnson's "18-hour work day at the White House" doesn't square with his administration's proposal to cut down on overtime work, says banker David Rockefeller.

Rockefeller, president of Chase Manhattan Bank of New York, compared the White House work day with the administration's double pay for overtime work proposal in a speech Monday night. He called this ironic.

Rockefeller, 48, youngest of the five Rockefeller brothers spoke to the Financial Executive Institute of Detroit.

Rockefeller's talk was an expansion of a news conference in which he attacked the double overtime proposal as an attempt to pressure industry into hiring more workers.

He said union leaders' proposals for a 35-hour week and the administration's double overtime idea were both defeatist and inadequate.

"It is ironic," he said, "that a proposal to cut down on overtime should come from an administration whose leader has installed the 18-hour day at the White House."

This was an allusion to the work President Johnson does and requirements he reportedly makes of his staff.

KIDNEY STONES AND DIET

Q. I have had two kidney stones. Would a special diet help prevent more trouble of this kind?

A. There is no generally accepted diet for persons who tend to develop kidney stones. One of the first things to consider in preventing recurrence of stones is stone analysis. Pending identification of the chemical nature of the stone, diet may play a role in prevention. For example, it might be wise to avoid foods high in calcium and high in oxalates. Milk might be avoided as a beverage and cheese consumption curtailed. Foods high in oxalates include spinach, asparagus, rhubarb, greens, and chocolate. There is, however, no guarantee that dietary restriction will prevent kidney stones.

BLACK WIDOW'S MIGHT

Q. Is the bite of a black widow spider more deadly than that of a poisonous snake such as a rattlesnake?

A. The deadliness of venom depends, among other things, on the amount injected at the time of the bite. A rattlesnake would inject more venom than a black widow spider. However, drop for drop, the venom of the black widow spider is said to be fifteen times stronger than that of the rattlesnake.

Unions Hold To Boycott Of Grain Deal

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Labor leaders, in their first full scale row with President Johnson, vow they will not retreat from their boycott of U.S. wheat shipments to the Soviet Union.

"There's nobody who can change this deal but me," said President Thomas W. Gleason of the International Longshoremen's Union Tuesday. "And I will not back down."

Gleason had the full support of AFL-CIO officials, including President George Meany, in rejecting Johnson's plea to end the boycott.

Labor's attitude appeared to harden in the face of renewed attempts at a settlement by Asst. Secretary of Labor James J. Reynolds, special emissary of the President.

Gleason and Paul Hall, president of the AFL-CIO's Maritime Trades Department, insist that at least half the wheat be shipped in U.S. vessels.

All claimed the Johnson administration had reneged on the late President John F. Kennedy's promise that at least half the wheat would be transported in American ships. He demanded that the federal government renew the pledge in writing, with the signatures of all Cabinet officers involved.

Compounding the dispute is the anger of Hall and Gleason at Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges for accusing the unions of trying to make foreign policy.

Hall, in an interview, said Hodges' statement was "the last refuge of an incompetent."

Gleason, in another interview, denied his union is trying to influence foreign policy.

The labor leaders also are angry at Hodges because the Maritime Administration, under the Commerce Department, granted Continental Grain Co. a waiver permitting more than 50 per cent foreign shipping.

Continental claimed it could not find enough U.S. ships of the right size at the right time and place.

Reynolds, who failed in an earlier attempt at a settlement, began a new round of closed conferences.

A spokesman for the maritime unions said only Johnson's personal intervention could resolve the dispute.

Gleason's longshoremen are boycotting four foreign ships scheduled for loading on the Gulf Coast with wheat sold to the Soviet Union by Continental. The Continental sale involves

Unusual Building Looks Like Ship

HARTFORD, Conn.—When Connecticut residents say "everything is shipshape" in the new Phoenix Mutual Building, they are being literal as well as informative.

The 600 officials and employees of the home office of the life insurance company "went aboard" their new offices recently when the 14-story structure was "commissioned" in downtown Hartford.

The building resembles a huge, green-tinted, glass ocean liner with one end pointing toward the nearby Connecticut River and the other end directed toward the Old State House, an outstanding colonial landmark-museum dedicated back in 1796.

The elliptical structure is the world's first two-sided office building. It measures 225 feet from bow to stern; its maximum width is 87 feet.

The 40,000 - square - foot base consists of a one-story block quadrangle, surrounding a courtyard with a reflection pool. An employee cafeteria and library-lounge face the courtyard.

The architects for the building describe it as being lenticular hyperboloid — or elongated oval.

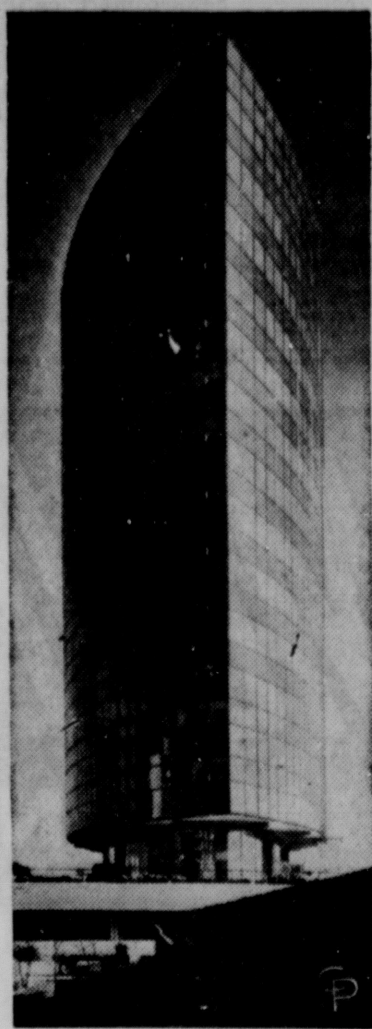

Among the advantages in it, listed by the architects, are: an outside view for all personnel, no prestige-hidden corner offices, and little waste in corridor space. Each tower floor is 13,100 square feet, of which 10,900 square feet are usable.

The $13 million Phoenix Building is linked by a footbridge, crossing over a street, into the $40 million Constitution Plaza, a 16-acre section which is the urban renewal gem of Hartford's insurance and banking interests.

The "plaza," which rises over a once blighted neighborhood of tenements and stores, is on the side of the first settlement in 1639 by Rev. Thomas Hooker, who led a group of Massachusetts farmers into Connecticut. Featured in the Constitution Plaza are: An 18-story bank building, a 20 - story commercial building, a television-about $75 million worth of grain. Other export licenses issued by the Commerce Department could bring wheat sales to the Soviet Union to $400 million.

The longshoremen's officials say none of it may ever get off American docks if the deadlock isn't settled on their terms.

The Phoenix Building

radio broadcast center, an 1,800 - car underground garage and a 315-room hotel to be completed in the spring.

Constitution Plaza and the Phoenix Building are part of the $90 million redevelopment program in this "All - America" city.

State Liquor Aides Are Reassigned

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A shakeup of state liquor agent assignments was announced by Liquor Director Donald D. Cook today. He said 46 of his agents are being transferred from district to district, promoted or demoted within the department's five areas.

In a companion move he said is aimed at "efficiency," Cook abolished the department's separate Beer and Wine Division. Its enforcement agents were shifted to the Enforcement Division, and the beer and wine permit section was shifted to the departmental permit division under permit chief Allen D. Martin.

Soviet Readies Cyprus Views

'Hands Off' Idea Cited by Envoy

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Soviet Union was expected to tell the U.N. Security Council today it should guarantee the independence and territorial integrity of Cyprus and then leave Greek and Turkish Cypriots alone to settle their feud.

Soviet chief delegate Nikolai T. Fedorenko told newsmen Tuesday night the Soviet line is "hands off Cyprus." He said his government agrees with President Makarios of Cyprus, leader of the Greek Cypriots, that a council guarantee will make an international peace force on the island unnecessary.

Fedorenko and chief U.S. delegate Adlai E. Stevenson were scheduled to speak this afternoon at the council's third meeting on the Cyprus crisis.

U.N. Secretary-General U Thant was reported making progress toward getting agreement from Cyprus, Britain, Greece and Turkey on a plan he has put forward privately to deal with the crisis.

Thant's plan calls for an international force to prevent a resumption of the fighting, an impartial mediator to seek a settlement between the island's Greek Cypriot majority and its Turkish Cypriot minority, and a Security Council resolution guaranteeing Cyprus' independence and territorial integrity.

Thant proposed that the international force be supplied by British Commonwealth members—Cyprus is a member of the Commonwealth and some nonaligned nations.

Diplomatic sources said that despite Makarios' earlier statement that a Security Council guarantee would make such a force unnecessary, the Cypriot government was generally satisfied with Thant's idea for a police force linked to the Security Council through him.

Serious fighting broke out during Christmas between the two Cypriot communities after Makarios proposed to repeal constitutional provisions giving the Turkish minority a veto over various types of legislation. British troops are trying to enforce a cease-fire on Cyprus, but sporadic gunfire has continued and no progress has been made toward a political settlement.

A third of Panama's income derives from wages, trade and fees generated by the Panama Canal.

Solon Said Tied to Bribe Try

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cuyahoga County Prosecutor John T. Corrigan charged Cleveland Councilman Michael Fatica today with attempting to solicit a bribe in a liquor permit case.

Charged with the 19th Ward Democrat was Anthony Cesa, 42, who was not further identified by the prosecutor.

Corrigan said an alleged bribe of $1,500 in cash and a promissory note for $3,500 were involved. The bribe was solicited Feb. 11 and accepted Tuesday, he said.

The case involved an applicant seeking a liquor license transfer, the prosecutor said. He identified the applicant as Gus Stassis, a restaurant owner.

Corrigan said the investigation was launched a week ago when Stassis came to his office and told of the alleged attempted shakedown.

Fatica and Cesa were held overnight in the county jail following questioning by Corrigan and detectives.

Denying any involvement in the alleged bribe attempt, Fatica said:

"It's strictly a legal operation (the dealings between himself and Stassis). I told him I was a lawyer and expected to be paid for it."

Cesa told a reporter that he had nothing to do with the alleged bribe attempt.

Nursing Home To Be Denied New License

NORWALK, Ohio (AP) — Eugene Woods, operator of the Norrwood Christian Nursing Home here, has been notified that the home's license will not be renewed by the State Health Department.

Dr. Emmett Arnold, State Health Department director, cited these reasons Tuesday for the cancellation:

Half a dozen instances of longstanding sanitation violations, refusal of the state fire marshal to approve the building because of alleged fire hazards, and instances of medication being given to patients contrary to doctors' orders.

Woods has 30 days to request a hearing or otherwise have the license summarily canceled. He formerly owned the Golden Age Nursing Home at nearby Fitchville where 63 patients died in a fire last Nov. 23.

Woods said he was going to appeal the suspension of his license "and go to higher courts, if necessary."

"The state inspectors have been harassing me and making out false reports for the past year because I won't give in to the institutional - like treatment of people," he said. "I am not going to treat my people as numbers. I am going to treat them as individuals."

One farm worker today produces food, fiber and other commodities for himself and 28 other persons.

Unions Hold To Boycott Of Grain Deal

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Labor leaders, in their first full-scale row with President Johnson, vow they will not retreat from their boycott of U.S. wheat shipments to the Soviet Union.

"There's nobody who can change this deal but me," said President Thomas W. Gleason of the International Longshoremen's Union Tuesday. "And I will not back down."

Gleason had the full support of AFL-CIO officials, including President George Meany, in rejecting Johnson's plea to end the boycott.

Labor's attitude appeared to harden in the face of renewed attempts at a settlement by Asst. Secretary of Labor James J. Reynolds, special emissary of the President.

Gleason and Paul Hall, president of the AFL-CIO's Maritime Trades Department, insist that at least half the wheat be shipped in U.S. vessels.

All claimed the Johnson administration had reneged on the late President John F. Kennedy's promise that at least half the wheat would be transported in American ships. He demanded that the federal government renew the pledge in writing, with the signatures of all Cabinet officers involved.

Compounding the dispute is the anger of Hall and Gleason at Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges for accusing the unions of trying to make foreign policy.

Hall, in an interview, said Hodges' statement was "the last refuge of an incompetent."

Gleason, in another interview, denied his union is trying to influence foreign policy.

The labor leaders also are angry at Hodges because the Maritime Administration, under the Commerce Department, granted Continental Grain Co. a waiver permitting more than 50 per cent foreign shipping.

Continental claimed it could not find enough U.S. ships of the right size at the right time and place.

Reynolds, who failed in an earlier attempt at a settlement, began a new round of closed conferences.

A spokesman for the maritime unions said only Johnson's personal intervention could resolve the dispute.

Gleason's longshoremen are boycotting four foreign ships scheduled for loading on the Gulf Coast with wheat sold to the Soviet Union by Continental. The Continental sale involves

Unusual Building Looks Like Ship

HARTFORD, Conn.—When Connecticut residents say "everything is shipshape" in the new Phoenix Mutual Building, they are being literal as well as informative.

The 600 officials and employees of the home office of the life insurance company "went aboard" their new offices recently when the 14-story structure was "commissioned" in downtown Hartford.

The building resembles a huge, green-tinted, glass ocean liner with one end pointing toward the nearby Connecticut River and the other end directed toward the Old State House, an outstanding colonial landmark-museum dedicated back in 1796.

The elliptical structure is the world's first two-sided office building. It measures 225 feet from bow to stern; its maximum width is 87 feet.

The 40,000-square-foot base consists of a one-story block quadrangle, surrounding a courtyard with a reflection pool. An employee cafeteria and library-lounge face the courtyard.

The architects for the building describe it as being lenticular hyperboloid—or elongated oval.

Among the advantages in it, listed by the architects, are: an outside view for all personnel, no prestigious-hidden corner offices, and little waste in corridor space. Each tower floor is 13,100 square feet, of which 10,900 square feet are usable.

The $13 million Phoenix Building is linked by a footbridge, crossing over a street, into the $40 million Constitution Plaza, a 16-acre section which is the urban renewal gem of Hartford's insurance and banking interests.

The "plaza," which rises over a once blighted neighborhood of tenements and stores, is on the side of the first settlement in 1639 by Rev. Thomas Hooker, who led a group of Massachusetts farmers into Connecticut.

Featured in the Constitution Plaza are: An 18-story bank building, a 20-story commercial building, a television-about $75 million worth of grain. Other export licenses issued by the Commerce Department could bring wheat sales to the Soviet Union to $400 million.

The longshoremen's officials say none of it may ever get off American docks if the deadlock isn't settled on their terms.

The Phoenix Building

radio broadcast center, an 1,800-car underground garage and a 315-room hotel to be completed in the spring.

Constitution Plaza and the Phoenix Building are part of the $90 million redevelopment program in this "All-America" city.

State Liquor Aides Are Reassigned

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A shakeup of state liquor agent assignments was announced by Liquor Director Donald D. Cook today. He said 46 of his agents are being transferred from district to district, promoted or demoted within the department's five areas.

In a companion move he said is aimed at "efficiency," Cook abolished the department's separate Beer and Wine Division. Its enforcement agents were shifted to the Enforcement Division, and the beer and wine permit section was shifted to the departmental permit division under permit chief Allen D. Martin.

Soviet Readies Cyprus Views

'Hands Off' Idea Cited by Envoy

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Soviet Union was expected to tell the U.N. Security Council today it should guarantee the independence and territorial integrity of Cyprus and then leave Greek and Turkish Cypriots alone to settle their feud.

Soviet chief delegate Nikolai T. Fedorenko told newsmen Tuesday night the Soviet line is "hands off Cyprus." He said his government agrees with President Makarios of Cyprus, leader of the Greek Cypriots, that a council guarantee will make an international peace force on the island unnecessary.

Fedorenko and chief U.S. delegate Adlai E. Stevenson were scheduled to speak this afternoon at the council's third meeting on the Cyprus crisis.

U.N. Secretary-General U Thant was reported making progress toward getting agreement from Cyprus, Britain, Greece and Turkey on a plan he has put forward privately to deal with the crisis.

Thant's plan calls for an international force to prevent a resumption of the fighting, an impartial mediator to seek a settlement between the island's Greek Cypriot majority and its Turkish Cypriot minority, and a Security Council resolution guaranteeing Cyprus' independence and territorial integrity.

Thant proposed that the international force be supplied by British Commonwealth members—Cyprus is a member of the Commonwealth and some nonaligned nations.

Diplomatic sources said that despite Makarios' earlier statement that a Security Council guarantee would make such a force unnecessary, the Cypriot government was generally satisfied with Thant's idea for a police force linked to the Security Council through him.

Serious fighting broke out during Christmas between the two Cypriot communities after Makarios proposed to repeal constitutional provisions giving the Turkish minority a veto over various types of legislation.

British troops are trying to enforce a cease-fire on Cyprus, but sporadic gunfire has continued and no progress has been made toward a political settlement.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — It is almost 10 years since the Supreme Court, after watching Congress for half a century duck this country's most important social problem, decided to tackle the job itself.

This was the May 17, 1954, decision declaring segregation of Negroes unconstitutional. This, one of the most far-reaching court decisions in American history, began a social revolution still being fought out.

Again, after watching Congress and state legislatures fail for generations to give voters fairer representation, the court moved in to this vacuum with two landmark political decisions.

In these—one in 1962, the second last Monday—the court said voting districts, from which representatives are sent to Congress and state legislatures, must be rearranged to make the population in each more equal.

As it is now, one district with 900,000 people may have only one representative in Congress while another, with only 200,000 people, also has one.

These social and political decisions had the effect of legislation, a field supposedly reserved under the Constitution for the legislative branch of government.

Nothing in the Constitution specifically gives the court the right to do this. But nothing in the Constitution says it can't. And it's the court which interprets the Constitution.

This is not the first time the court has assumed a right not spelled out. It has done that repeatedly, although for long periods haltingly. In 1803 it decided it had the power to declare an act of Congress unconstitutional; in 1821 it claimed the right to do the same about state legislation. The court was denounced at the time.

But those decisions helped strengthen this country's unity. The 1821 decision—the power to knock out a state law—made it possible for the court in 1954 to knock out state segregation laws.

Justice John Marshall Harlan, who got on the court too late to take part in the 1954 case, opposed the redistricting decisions of 1962 and this week.

He warned last summer that if this kind of thing continued—when the legislative branch

Belgium Alerted For Art Thieves

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — All border posts have been alerted to watch for the 17th century painting "Negroes' Heads" stolen from the Brussels Museum of Ancient Art Monday, police sources said today.

Police questioned suspects after a night watchman at the museum said he saw a suspicious man in a blue coat outside the museum shortly before the robbery was believed to have taken place.

Estimates of the value of the canvas—one of Peter Paul Rubens' most famous—range from $20,000 to $1 million.

By James Marlow

failed to act—there would be a 'substantial transfer of legislative power to the courts.'

What's the alternative? If the legislative branch fails to correct an obvious wrong, must the court also do nothing even though it has power to act? By its decisions the court has rejected such a philosophy.

Even after the 1954 decision Congress has gone less than all-out to end segregation. It passed two fairly mild civil rights bills—in 1957 and 1960. But now it is wrestling with a truly powerful antidiscrimination bill.

It cannot be plausibly argued that Southern Democrats were solely responsible for the failure of Congress to act in behalf of Negroes' civil rights through all of the 20th century until 1957.

They always were, and still are, a minority in Congress. The truth is that the rest of the members—always in a majority—never cared enough about the rights of Negro citizens to squelch the Southerners, as they could have, at any time. They just ignored the problem and the injustice.

If the court had not acted, segregation would probably still be considered constitutional, as it was until 1954, and might have continued so for years, since Congress showed no inclination to ban it.

Yet, such a policy would not only have built up racial hatred in this country but would have made American foreign policy look ludicrous now when it is trying to win the friendship of the world's backward peoples, especially since most of the world's people are not white.

Commodity Programs Backed by Ag Aide

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A high-ranking government official has called on Ohio farmers to support federal commodity programs to help end poverty in rural areas.

Horace D. Godfrey, administrator of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, made the plea Tuesday at the Ohio State ASCS conference.

He said President Johnson "pointed out that almost one-half of our nation's poor live in rural areas" and are bearing a disproportionate share of the nation's poverty.

Smothers Brothers Prove To Be Really Brothers

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Yes, Virginia, the name is really Smothers and they are really brothers. The Smothers Brothers are riding the crest of the folk craze to a pair of tidy fortunes.

Within three short years, the brothers have played most of the television variety shows many times over and gleaned gold from concerts throughout the land—100 in 1963. The jugged, staring-eyed pair net as much as $7,500 for a night's work.

What do they do? Sing folk songs. But they are different from the guitar-strummers with whom the campuses and coffee houses abound. Their stock in trade is offbeat, between-song patter that seems to be created at the moment. It isn't. Their ad libs are perfected by weeks and months of polishing.

The Smothers were back in the Hollywood base of operations after a month of needed rest. Tom, the older, wacky brother, lives in Hollywood with his bride, Dick, two years younger at 25, makes his home with wife and baby in Salinas, Calif.

"Business has been good," reported Tom, who has a sound head despite his stage demeanor. "In one week we were paid $7,500 for not doing our second Judy Garland show (she decided to do it alone). On one day's notice we did a Hollywood Palace show for $7,500. We got $3,500 for appearing at the Troubadour—not our usual price, but our agent wanted us to play a local date so he could bring in people from the studios."

There's talk of movies and television series for the boys, and they'd like to be able to stay in one place for a while. But they have no real complaints, and no wonder. They've come far from their $4-per-night engagements at a San Jose

State College hangout. As with many folkies — Kingston Trio, Randy Sparks, etc. — the Smothers got their first break in a San Francisco nightclub. Their first splash in the bigtime was on Jack Paar's nightly show three years ago.

"Paar kept telling our agent he didn't like folk singers—except Burl Ives," said Dick. "But one night he had a cancellation and we went on. Everything worked right that night. We played the Paar show 13 times and every time he said he didn't like folk singers — except Burl Ives."

One-Legged Girl Gets Stage Chance

CLEVELAND (AP) — Mary Jane Altomondo, a spirited teen-ager who lost her right leg and hip in a cancer operation, is about to realize her life-long wish of becoming an actress.

A special role is being tailored for her in the New York television production of "Once Upon A Mattress." The star, Carol Burnett, sent plane tickets and made hotel reservations Monday for Mary Jane, 16, and her mother.

The girl and her mother will leave Cleveland March 4 and return home to suburban Bedford March 8.

Cohn Claim About Mail Is Ignored

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top government postal officials have refused to comment on charges by Roy M. Cohn's attorneys that the government has been intercepting their mail for more than a year.

Cohn's lawyers have asked dismissal of a perjury indictment against the former chief counsel of the Senate committee headed by the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R-Wis., on grounds that his mail and his lawyers' mail has been intercepted.

"That's before the court and we'll have nothing to say about it now," said Chief Postal Inspector Henry B. Montague Monday.

The Post Office Department refused to comment. "We'll make our answer in court," a Justice Department spokesman said.

Audition Police
HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Downtown merchants complained recently that a police sound truck which directs motorists to parking places was operated by a man with a "growling" voice.

The Retail Trade Bureau of the Greater Hartford Chamber of Commerce asked whether "someone with a more delicate voice" could operate the sound system.

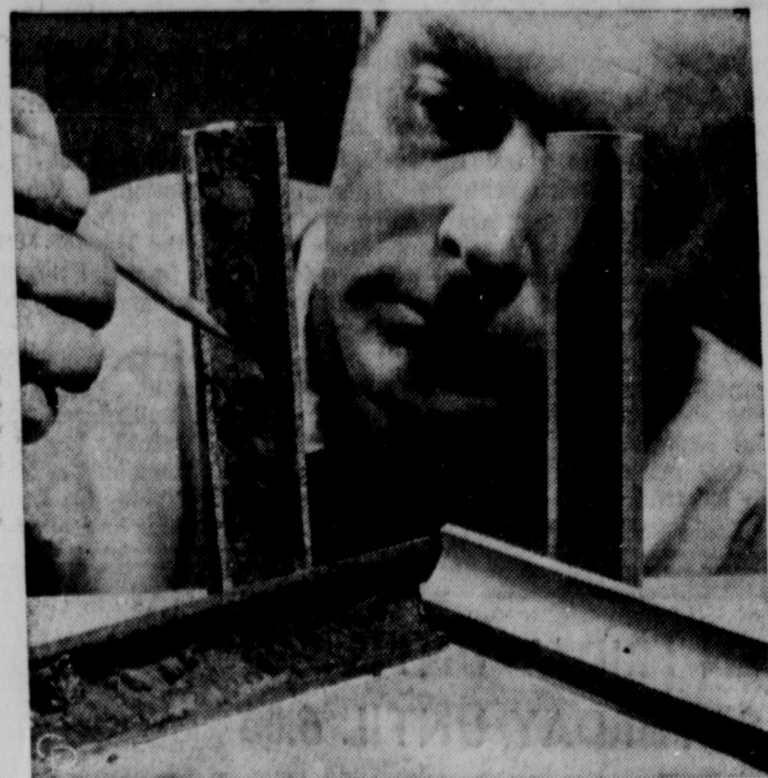

But Montague, without reference to the Cohn case, said, "There is no authority to seize, delay or inspect any first-class mail" without a court order.

The only first-class mail that may be opened without a court order, he said, is undeliverable mail that has been shunted to the dead letter office, where it may be opened and inspected in an attempt to identify the sender or the addressee.

Withdrawal At Viet Nam Is Still Goal

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara says he still hopes to withdraw most American troops from South Viet Nam by the end of 1965—even if the anti-Communist fight falters there.

He has told Congress that events in South Viet Nam since last fall have not changed his mind in this regard.

McNamara's reaffirmation of his troop withdrawal plans was made in secret testimony before the House Armed Services Committee two weeks ago. The committee released a censored transcript of the testimony today.

"I don't believe that we as a nation should assume the primary responsibility for the war in South Viet Nam," said McNamara. "It is a counter-guerrilla war; it is a war that can only be won by the Vietnamese themselves. Our responsibility is not to substitute ourselves for the Vietnamese, but to train them to carry on the operation that they themselves are capable of."

Cohn's lawyers have asked dismissal of a perjury indictment against the former chief counsel of the Senate committee headed by the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R-Wis., on grounds that his mail and his lawyers' mail has been intercepted.

"That's before the court and we'll have nothing to say about it now," said Chief Postal Inspector Henry B. Montague Monday.

The Post Office Department refused to comment. "We'll make our answer in court," a Justice Department spokesman said.

Audition Police
HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Downtown merchants complained recently that a police sound truck which directs motorists to parking places was operated by a man with a "growling" voice.

The Retail Trade Bureau of the Greater Hartford Chamber of Commerce asked whether "someone with a more delicate voice" could operate the sound system.

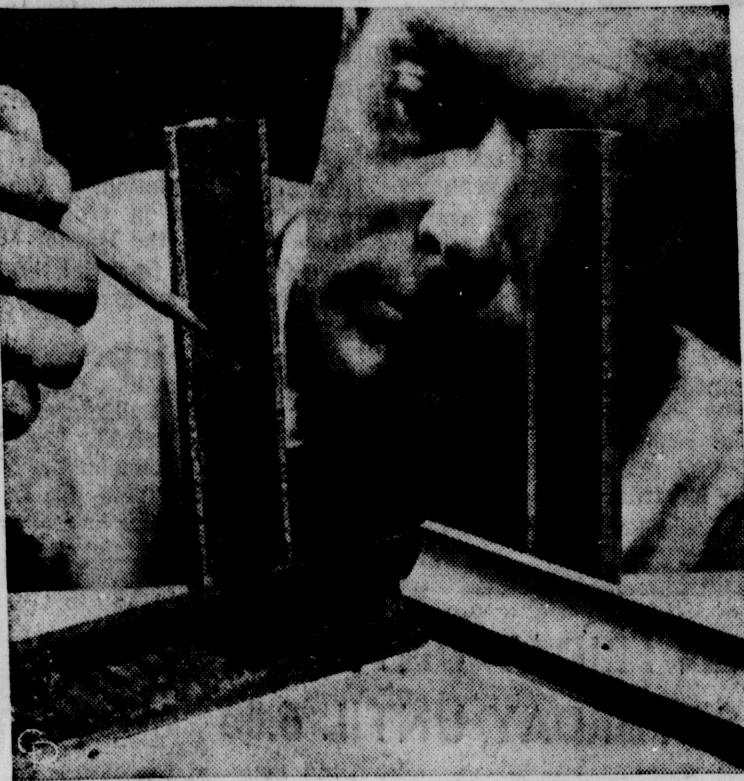

But Montague, without reference to the Cohn case, said, "There is no authority to seize, delay or inspect any first-class mail" without a court order.

The only first-class mail that may be opened without a court order, he said, is undeliverable mail that has been shunted to the dead letter office, where it may be opened and inspected in an attempt to identify the sender or the addressee.

Withdrawal At Viet Nam Is Still Goal

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara says he still hopes to withdraw most American troops from South Viet Nam by the end of 1965—even if the anti-Communist fight falters there.

He has told Congress that events in South Viet Nam since last fall have not changed his mind in this regard.

McNamara's reaffirmation of his troop withdrawal plans was made in secret testimony before the House Armed Services Committee two weeks ago. The committee released a censored transcript of the testimony today.

"I don't believe that we as a nation should assume the primary responsibility for the war in South Viet Nam," said McNamara. "It is a counter-guerrilla war; it is a war that can only be won by the Vietnamese themselves. Our responsibility is not to substitute ourselves for the Vietnamese, but to train them to carry on the operation that they themselves are capable of."

Oh, my aching back

Nagging backache, headache, or muscular aches and pains may come on with over-exertion, emotional upsets or day to day stress and strain. And folks who eat and drink unwisely sometimes suffer mild bladder irritation... with that restless uncomfortable feeling.

If you are miserable and worn out because of these discomforts, Doan's Pills often help by their pain-relieving action, by their soothing effect to ease bladder irritation, and by their mild diuretic action through the kidneys—tending to increase the output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes.

So if nagging backache makes you feel dragged-out, miserable...with restless, sleepless nights...don't wait...try Doan's Pills...get the same happy relief millions have enjoyed for over 60 years.

attacks of serious illness which on several occasions brought him to the brink of death.

He was one of the most prolific letter writers in American history; several experts estimate 75,000 as the total he wrote during his lifetime.

He turned down an opportunity to be called "your majesty".

Salty Gitmo Boss Cuts Off Water

GUANTANAMO BAY, Cuba (AP)—Irrked by charges that the Guantanamo Naval Base had stolen water from a Cuban pipeline, Rear Adm. John D. Bulkeley issued an order to "cut the damn thing in half."

So while Cuban military guards watched, four Cuban workmen from the base went out Monday and severed the 14-inch line from the Yateras Reservoir.

Until Feb. 6 two million gallons had flowed over the pipeline each day. Then the Cubans turned off the water, but the pipeline stayed in place. Now the base is completely independent of Cuban water supplies.

Broadcasts the past few days over Havana Radio have charged the Americans were stealing water from the pipeline.

The salty admiral said he made the decision to cut the pipeline after Secretary of the Navy Paul Nitze asked him whether there was any truth in Cuba's charges.

"I told him we had not cheated or stolen anything," Bulkeley told a news conference. "We haven't accepted and will not accept any water from Cuba."

Tankers are bringing water from the United States until desalination plants can be built over the next year at a cost of $10 million. The first unit of the three-unit plant is scheduled to be in operation in 23 weeks.

The U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service estimates the present population of sea otters at around 40,000, scattered from the rockbound coast of California to the Aleutian and Kuril Islands. Fifty years ago there were less than a thousand.

He was a poor speller and couldn't even get the names of his close friends right. Yet he had a vocabulary that would fry eggs, but he once issued a famous order which banned any swearing throughout the Continental Army.

If one looks closely at Gilbert Stuart's well-known portrait of George Washington, one observes an artificial bulging of the cheeks, as if they had been stuffed with cotton.

Some historians say Stuart actually did use cotton to fill out the sunken cheeks of his illustrious subject, who at the time was wearing his ill-fitting dentures. In 1796, when the picture was painted, Washington was the proud possessor of two sets of these awkward and noisy contraptions, made of ivory.

Washington was allergic to tobacco smoke and once nearly broke up an important meeting with Indians when he made a pained face while smoking the traditional peace pipe.

He is beloved as few men have ever been in history — yet while he was alive he was criticized almost beyond belief. That was Washington, the Father of His Country — a phrase, by the way, first used on the cover of a foreign language almanac published at Lancaster, Pa., in 1779.

Many of the stories passed on about Washington are untrue. Like throwing a dollar coin across the Potomac River. Baseball pitcher Walter Johnson in his prime couldn't have matched the feat because the Potomac, at the spot where Washington is supposed to have thrown the money, is a mile wide.

Another unsupported legend is the famous cherry tree yarn which originated in a biography of Washington published in 1860. Today's historians do not deny it ever happened, but point out very little is known of Washington's boyhood and that it is strange the cherry tree story never appeared in any other biography, before or since.

The real Washington was a man with human faults and failings. His marriage was unhappy, mainly because he loved the wife of a friend and neighbor to the day he died. He was also something of a hypochondriac (as was Lincoln). He frequently complained of illness and in later years used to tell friends as he parted with them that it would be the last time he would see them.

Exact diagnosis of George Washington's last sickness is still a matter of dispute among medical historians. The most convincing study was made by Dr. W. A. Wells of Washington, D. C. in 1927.

Dr. Wells concluded from all the known data that Washington died from a streptococcal laryngitis, and inflammatory swelling of the larynx and the vocal chords caused by a strain of virulent streptococci.

However, Washington's physicians bled him, administered laxative, calomel and an emetic, tartar, which weakened him immensely. There is no way of knowing how much this contributed to the fatal outcome.

All the castigating and sniping against the great man ceased at his death. He was mourned so deeply that the doctors who attended him in his last illness were accused of malpractice.

TODAY In History

Today is Wednesday, Feb. 19 the 50th day of 1964. There are 316 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1945, what the Marine Corps calls its toughest battle in history started on the tiny Pacific island of Iwo Jima when the first troops landed after more than 70 days of shelling had failed to soften up Japanese positions. It took four frightful days of unending fighting before the American flag was planted atop Mt. Suribachi.

On this date:

In 1803, the 17th date, Ohio, was admitted to the union.

In 1878, Thomas A. Edison patented a new device called the phonograph.

In 1915, British and French forces bombarded the Dardanelles.

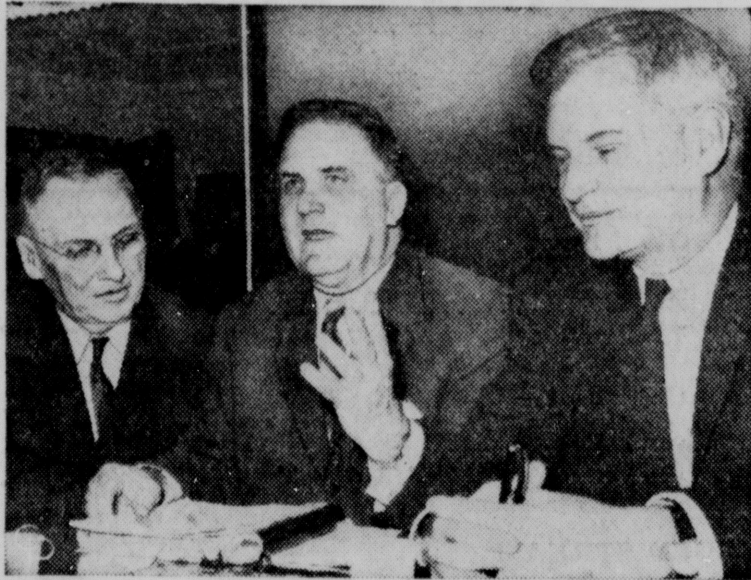

In 1942, Japanese bombers made their first attack on the Australian mainland.

In 1946, the British government announced a delegation would leave for India to help work out a plan for her independence.

Ten years ago . . . The Army rejected a demand by Sen. Joseph McCarthy to disclose the names of persons connected with the promotion and honorable discharge of Maj. Irving Peress, described by McCarthy as a Communist leader.

Five years ago . . . Former Teamsters Union President Dave Beck was convicted in federal court in Tacoma, Wash., on charges of income tax evasion.

One year ago . . . President Betancourt of Venezuela arrived in Washington for four-day visit and was welcomed by President Kennedy.

URGES FULL SPACE BUDGET—James E. Webb (center), national space chief, tells the House Space Committee in Washington that if it does not provide the full $5.3 billion space budget requested by President Johnson for 1964-65, it will not be possible to land an American on the Moon in this decade. Listening are Dr. Hugh L. Dryden (left), deputy NASA administrator, and Dr. Robert Seamans, associate.

Defendant's Promise Proves Good Bail

NEW YORK (AP)—Upon no more bail than their promise to return for trial, accused burglars, assaulters and robbers are walking free from the Criminal Court of Manhattan every day.

And 99 per cent of them keep their word.

This is the work of the Manhattan Bail Project, a 2½-year-old experiment in pre-trial parole.

It grew from a retired industrialist's conviction that the concept of innocent until proven guilty means no man should languish in jail solely because he is too poor to pay a professional bail bondsman for his release.

The results have caused court officials and lawyers all over America to take notice.

The operation of this test of bail reform, a joint venture of the private Vera Foundation and the New York University School of Law, is simple.

One recent morning, a group of law students or new graduates, male and female, stood outside the courtroom detention pen. Behind bars—some scared, some hung over and some shaken from narcotics withdrawal—were men arrested during the night and awaiting arraignment.

One, an unemployed actor who had taken a swing at a policeman, talked with a pretty woman who took notes about his residence, employment, family ties and police record.

A step away along the 20-foot barred face of the pen, an interviewer questioned a Puerto Rican truck driver accused of malicious mischief.

An admitted former heroin "main-liner" said he had been off narcotics almost a year, but his physical condition said otherwise. The questioner asked the remainder of the interview for Vera refuses narcotics cases, murders, rapes and sex offenses involving children. Some 40 per cent of the defendants Vera questions are turned down.

Telephone calls quickly verified the information given by the actor and the Puerto Rican.

Then began the tally—0 to 3 points in each category according to a set scale for the classification of answers given to a few simple questions. A total of 5 points earns a recommendation for release without bail.

Both the actor and the Puerto Rican qualified.

The actor, booked for a stage role in the Midwest after three months of unemployment, pleaded guilty in hope of a sentence which wouldn't interfere with the job soon to start. He received a suspended sentence.

The Puerto Rican was released by a judge who accepted the recommendation, as the arraignment judges do in 70 per cent of the cases. He and 19 other defendants that day joined some 1,600 persons who owe their pre-trial freedom to the experiment. Only 15, less than 1 per cent, failed to show up for trial.

Louis Schweitzer, a former chemical engineering industrialist, established the foundation in 1961.

Last month, with a grant from the Ford Foundation, a similar project started in Washington. More recently, the Hawley Well-fare foundation financed the beginning of a program in Des Moines, Iowa.

A committee of the American Bar Association has begun related study in Baltimore, Boston, Chicago, Detroit, Los Angeles, Miami, Minneapolis, New Orleans, Philadelphia, St. Louis and San Francisco.

Soil, Water Conservation Education Is Vital Need

CONSERVATION AND EDUCATION — Don Archer, soil technician with the Pickaway County Soil and Water Conservation District displays some samples of material available to schools for conservation education to Joanna Hunsinger Kister and to Gordon Massie (standing). On the desk are two jars of Scioto River water which Archer frequently uses to illustrate the need for more and better conservation practices.

By STEVE JONES

"Education is the most important single factor in soil and water conservation."

This statement has been made time after time by Don Archer, technician for the Pickaway County Soil and Water Conservation District.

Archer is not directing his comments exclusively to the education of the farmer and landowner. When he speaks of educating a community to conservation needs, he is referring to every man woman and child in the area.

And to prove that conservation is a problem of everyone, he keeps two quart jars of Scioto River water in his office.

One sample was taken from the river when it was at flood stage. The other was taken when the river was at a very low level during the past summer.

THE SAMPLE taken during the flood stage when allowed to settle, has almost one half of an inch of sediment in the bottom — Good Pickaway County Farm land, according to Archer.

Life Term Is Levied in Niles Slaying

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—David Zirwas has been sentenced to life imprisonment in the Ohio Penitentiary for the fatal shooting of Benjamin Krawiecki.

The written sentence was handed down by a panel of three judges in Trumbull County Common Pleas Court.

Judges Bruce P. Henderson and William N. McLain returned a verdict of guilty with mercy making life sentence mandatory.

Krawiecki, 42, of Youngstown was shot down on a street in Niles last September.

Zirwas, who Monday changed his plea from innocent by reason of insanity to guilty, was cross-examined about one hour by Len. B. Griffith, county prosecutor.

The panel of prospective jurors was sent home after Zirwas changed his plea and the judges began hearing testimony to determine the degree of guilt.

Armco Chief Raps Imports

100,000 Workers Face Job Losses

WASHINGTON (AP) — The president of the Armco Steel Corp. of Middletown, Ohio, says that 100,000 American steelworkers are faced with possible loss of their jobs by 1970 unless there is remedial legislation for the industry.

Logan Johnston, the Armco president, told the tariff commission that since 1958 this country has become a net importer of steel.

Projecting to 1970 the rate at which he said steel imports are exceeding exports, Johnston predicted the American steel industry may lose 12 million tons to its foreign competitors.

Based on last year's shipments that would be the equivalent of wiping out three companies the size of Armco with a loss of approximately 100,000 jobs, Johnston said.

Testimony from the steel industry is being taken by the Tariff Commission and will be used as guidance by U.S. representatives in international negotiations at Geneva later this year.

John P. Roche, president of the American Iron and Steel Institute, also declared in testimony prepared for the commission that the steel industry could have provided an additional 40,000 jobs last year if imports of steel products had been held at the 1953-57 level.

Johnston said that since World War II, the growth in world capacity for steelmaking has outpaced steel consumption. He added that industry sources indicate that since the United States market for these products is by far the largest in the world, this country is likely to be the No. 1 target for this

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather:

Snow depths in Ohio shortly after midnight ranged from one inch at Columbus and Marietta to four inches at Youngstown and Zanesville and seven inches at Akron.

Light snow in Ohio today is expected to accumulate possibly one to two inches before tapering off to flurries tonight.

Cloudiness is forecast Thursday with snow flurries most likely across the northern and eastern halves of the state.

Temperatures early today included Columbus and Cincinnati 31, Cleveland 28, Zanesville 29 and Marietta 32.

OHIO FIVE DAY FORECASTS

NORTHERN OHIO — Temperatures will average 8 to 12 degrees below normal. Normal high 36-37, normal low 19-23. Colder Thursday to Saturday, then little change to Monday. Precipitation will average four-tenths to eight-tenths of an inch melted as intervals of snow or scattered snow flurries Thursday through weekend.

SOUTHERN & CENTRAL OHIO—Temperatures will average 8 to 12 degrees below normal. Normal high 40-48, normal low 23-29. General cooling trend through Monday, only minor variations. Precipitation will average about one-half inch west to three-fourths of an inch east as snow flurries likely tonight, rain or snow south and snow central most likely about Friday and Sunday.

U.S. Court Accepts Suit Filed by Lima Newspaper

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Freedom Newspapers, Inc., publisher of the Lima News, has filed a $20.5 million cross-complaint suit against the corporation owning the defunct Lima Citizen.

The suit was admitted in U.S. District Court here Tuesday after nearly 24 hours delay. The action followed a brief hearing before Judge Frank L. Klobb to settle legal involvements in the cross-complaint.

The filing also included an answer denying charges levied by the Citizen in a $7,875,000 suit it filed Nov. 26 against Freedom Newspapers.

In Tuesday's action, co-defendants were listed as the Citizen, its co-publishers, Sam Kamin and J. A. Howenstine; its business manager, Wayne Current, and the editor, Robert C. Barton; the International Typographical Union, and 35 unnamed individuals.

In turn, the cross-complaint says the defendants conspired to force the News out of business.

The complaint charges that before the Citizen began publication in July 1956, the defendants issued "defamatory statements about the News, . . . enticed key employees of the News to join in their conspiracy, . . . conspired with the ITU and other labor unions to cause all labor union members in Lima to cancel their subscriptions to the News . . ." persuaded business and civic organizations to ask their members to boycott the News, and used News subscription lists to sell Citizen subscriptions and obtain advertising.

Following the advent of the Citizen, Freedom Newspapers alleges the News' circulation dropped from 35,000 to 15,000 and it accuses the Citizen with intimidating advertisers with the threat of union boycotts, more malicious and false statements about the News and publishing of alleged damaging editorials.

Gemini Flight Slated Late This Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Half the 29 astronauts have completed general training for Project Gemini, and the first manned flight of the two-man spacecraft will be made late this year, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Tuesday.

Dr. George E. Mueller, NASA associate administrator for manned space flight, said detailed planning for the first Gemini mission—an unmanned flight scheduled for early this spring—is completed, and planning is well along for flights No. 2 and No. 3.

Mueller told the House subcommittee on manned space flight that before the first manned orbital flight of the three-man Apollo spacecraft—a larger vehicle designed ultimately for flights to the moon and back—Gemini will have accomplished 860 hours of manned flight.

This will include three missions of long duration and six for the practice of rendezvous with other spacecraft.

Doomed Cleveland Gets Execution Stay

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Clarence Ferguson of Cleveland, who had been scheduled to die in Ohio Penitentiary's electric chair Friday night, was granted a stay of execution by the Ohio Supreme Court Tuesday pending the man's appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court. Ferguson, 19, was convicted in the slaying of Benjamin Kaufman in Cuyahoga County and was admitted to the penitentiary June 24, 1961.

year's drought is black and rank — water that is fit for practically no use. When allowed to stand, there is nearly three quarters of an inch of residue in the bottom of the jar.

To Archer, the best way to fight the conservation problem, so graphically illustrated by the two jars of water is through education of the entire area.

He feels he has little difficulty in reaching the agriculturalist.

But the average urban dweller takes little interest in conservation. He frequently thinks, as a matter of fact, that it has something to do with hunting and fishing.

Archer does not totally discount this thinking as he is quick to point out that better hunting and fishing go hand in glove with good soil and water conservation practices.

BUT HIS main problem is "keeping the water where it falls, and the soil where it is." He has an abundance of material available outlining the need for conservation at his office for the use of any organization or school.

One of the major fields where he hopes to introduce conservation education is in the schools — at all levels and in as many different classes as possible.

And with this thought in mind he has either acquired or knows where to acquire volumes of literature suited to the young mind.

Some of this literature has already been used — by Gordon Massie, principal at Jackson High School and by Mrs. Joanna Kister, a seventh grade history and geography teacher at Monroe Twp. School.

Massie himself is a devout believer in conservation. He not only has a farm background, but also worked for the USDA Soil Conservation Service for a short while.

And to him the teaching of conservation does not have to be limited to science and agricultural courses. Some of the material he has availed himself of, he used in a science class at Jackson that was studying the section of the text on soils.

MASSIE points out conservation has a very direct association with history, geography and economics.

Mrs. Kister even plans to use an illustrated pamphlet she obtained from the SCS office in

U.S. Court Accepts Suit Filed by Lima Newspaper

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Freedom Newspapers, Inc., publisher of the Lima News, has filed a $20.5 million cross-complaint suit against the corporation owning the defunct Lima Citizen.

The suit was admitted in U.S. District Court here Tuesday after nearly 24 hours delay. The action followed a brief hearing before Judge Frank L. Kloeb to settle legal involvements in the cross-complaint.

The filing also included an answer denying charges levied by the Citizen in a $7,875,000 suit it filed Nov. 26 against Freedom

Newspapers. Since the original action, Freedom Newspapers purchased the Citizen. The last edition of the Citizen was published Jan. 7.

The Citizen had charged Freedom Newspaper with violating the Sherman and Clayton antitrust acts in an alleged conspiracy to force the Citizen out of business.

In Tuesday's action, co-defendants were listed as the Citizen, its co-publishers, Sam Kamin and J. A. Howenstine; its business manager, Wayne Current, and the editor, Robert C. Barton; the International Typographical Union, and 35 unnamed individuals.

Following the advent of the Citizen, Freedom Newspapers alleges the News' circulation dropped from 35,000 to 15,000 and it accuses the Citizen with intimidating advertisers with the threat of union boycotts, more malicious and false statements about the News and publishing of alleged damaging editorial.

Selective Service Chief Urges Draft for 'Unfit'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service director, proposes rehabilitation and training under military control for young men rejected for military service.

Hershey advanced the idea Monday as the first phase of another program — aimed at moving rejectees into jobs and training by referring them to employment offices — went into effect.

From now to July 1, 23-year-olds called up for service will come under that program, announced by President Johnson last month. Beginning July 1 all registrants will be examined upon reaching age 18 to determine whether they meet the services' physical, mental and educational standards. Those found unfit will be routed to ward employment offices.

Hershey's separate proposal was set out in an editorial in the February issue of "Selective Service," a publication distributed to draft boards. He expanded on it in an interview.

Under Hershey's plan youths classified 1-Y—qualified only to serve in an emergency — would be inducted for up to two years for rehabilitation training. He proposed to stress basic education, correction of physical defects, "and most of all training in teamwork and responsible citizenship."

The editorial continued: "Without overemphasis on military training, those who participated would be eligible, if qualified, for admission by enlistment into the regular or ready reserve forces. The remainder, unless disqualified, should be assigned to the stand-by reserve for the remainder of their term of service."

"This would aid in the raising of the training level among our young men 18-26 which is badly needed. At present only two out of ten in this age group have been or are now in the armed forces."

Hershey figured the pool of men classified as 1-Y is now growing at a rate of more than 100,000 a year.

He said he had not developed his idea to the point of estimating the number of youths who should be covered, or the probable cost.

But he suggested the cost should be charged to the proposed war on poverty rather than the military budget.

Hershey advanced the idea Monday as the first phase of another program — aimed at moving rejectees into jobs and training by referring them to employment offices — went into effect.

From now to July 1, 23-year-olds called up for service will come under that program, announced by President Johnson last month. Beginning July 1 all registrants will be examined upon reaching age 18 to determine whether they meet the services' physical, mental and educational standards. Those found unfit will be routed toward employment offices.

Hershey's separate proposal was set out in an editorial in the February issue of "Selective Service," a publication distributed to draft boards. He expanded on it in an interview.

Under Hershey's plan youths classified 1-Y—qualified only to serve in an emergency — would be inducted for up to two years for rehabilitation training. He proposed to stress basic education, correction of physical defects, "and most of all training in teamwork and responsible citizenship."

The editorial continued: "Without overemphasis on military training, those who participated would be eligible, if qualified, for admission by enlistment into the regular or ready reserve forces. The remainder, unless disqualified, should be assigned to the standby reserve for the remainder of their term of service."

"This would aid in the raising of the training level among our young men 18-26 which is badly needed. At present only two out of ten in this age group have been or are now in the armed forces."

Hershey figured the pool of men classified as 1-Y is now growing at a rate of more than 100,000 a year.

He said he had not developed his idea to the point of estimating the number of youths who should be covered, or the probable cost.

But he suggested the cost should be charged to the proposed war on poverty rather than the military budget.

Titan 2 ICBM Fires Down Pacific Range

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—A 103-foot-long Titan 2 intercontinental ballistic missile hurled a dummy warhead down the Pacific missile range in what was called a routine training launch.

The launch was conducted Monday from an underground silo. Titan 2 weighs 300,000 pounds and is capable of sending a five-megaton warhead 10,000 miles.

The Air Force did not disclose the distance of Monday's test flight.

5 of Family Die In Crossing Crash

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—A family outing and a visit with friends turned into tragedy when the mother and father and three of their eight children were killed in a car-train crash.

Two other children of the Samuel Monroe Bailey family were injured in the crash in the nearby Tucker community Monday night. Three children were at home.

The automobile was carried about 1,800 feet by the train after the crash at the crossing.

Killed were Mr. and Mrs. Bailey; Brenda, 16; Gayle, 7, and Kathie, 6.

Two other children in critical condition at a hospital were Betty Ann, 8, and Wayne, 2.

Komives Rips Nets but BG Team Loses

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Howard (Butch) Komives, the Bowling Green ace who leads the nation's collegiate basketball scorers, fattened his lead Tuesday night by hitting 40 more points. But despite his effort, the BeeGees fell before national champion Loyola of Chicago, 92-83.

TOP AVERAGE—Guard Howard Komives of Bowling Green State U. cage team tops the nation's scorers with a 33-plus average. He's only 6'1" tall, from Toledo, O.

Komives poured in 25 in the first half and added 15 in the second when the Ohioans nearly pulled an upset on the Chicagoans.

They were down by just three at 84-81 with 1:27 remaining, but the Ramblers' Vic Rouse stole a Bowling Green pass and passed to Ron Miller for the clincher.

Komives entered the contest with an average per game of 35.3. Bowling Green has six games remaining, including a Saturday night encounter with Western Michigan, whose Manny Newsome is second in the national scoring race.

Cincinnati showed deadly accuracy at the free throw line and it paid off in a 99-84 decision over St. Joseph of Indiana in other Tuesday night action.

Each team had 39 field goals but the Bearcats sank 21 of 23 charity tosses while the losers made 6 of 11. Ron Bonham led UC scorers with 25 points as the Bearcats improved their record to 13-9.

Xavier got superb rebounding from Bob Pelkington, and Steve Thomas poured in 41 points as the Musketeers defeated St. Francis (Pa.) 116-99. Pelkington snared 31 rebounds to eclipse his own school record by one.

Four games were played in the Ohio Conference. Otterbein took a 96-86 triple-overtime thriller from Capital, Wooster defeated Oberlin 62-52, Denison slipped past Heidelberg 75-67 and Ohio Wesleyan beat Muskingum 66-48.

Otterbein's victory made the team the winningest in the school's history with a 13-3 mark. Previously the best performance by an Otterbein team was 12 victories in a season.

Rio Grande, which drew nationwide attention when Bevo Francis was busy setting scoring records, resembled the days of old Tuesday night as the Redmen stunned Kentucky Christian 137-97.

Knicks Snap Nine-Game Loss Streak

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The New York Knickerbockers ended a downhill flight, the Detroit Pistons had no such luck and Pittsburgh fans got their first "live" look at the champion Boston Celtics in Tuesday night's far-flung National Basketball Association activity.

The Knicks snapped a nine-game losing streak—two shy of the club record—by nipping Los Angeles 118-117 at New York.

The Pistons dropped their seventh in a row and tied their all-time season low of 46 defeats by bowing to San Francisco 108-98 at Lansing, Mich.

Boston topped Philadelphia 103-93 in the first NBA game ever played in the Steel City.

An offensive foul called against Laker star Jerry West with 11 seconds to play helped New York crack the victory column and hand Los Angeles its 12th loss in 14 games.

West and Elgin Baylor had led a rally that trimmed a seven-point New York lead to one. The Knicks' Art Heyman then missed a free throw. Baylor grabbed the rebound and fed West, who collided with Heyman on his jump-shot try.

Johnny Green paced the Knicks with 26 points. West had 45 for the Lakers.

Tickets for Harlem Cagers Available

Tickets for the Junior Chamber of Commerce sponsored basketball game featuring Goose Tatum's Harlem Road Kings are available at three locations in Circleville and at all county schools it was announced today by John Fissell, publicity director.

The city locations are Anderson's Candy Shop, The Economy Savings and Loan, and Risch Drugs.

players hit in double figures. Although Steve Gilmore's 22 points led the way.

In other games, Cedarville defeated Wilberforce 86-71, John Carroll downed Allegheny 104-67 in a Presidents' Conference skirmish and Hiram handed Western Reserve its third loss of the campaign compared to nine victories, defeating the Red Cats 84-76.

Tiger Frosh Lose Tourney Tilt, 45-41

Speakman Scores 18 In Losing Effort Against Kingston

The Circleville High School freshman basketball team lost to Kingston, 45-41, in the Mt. Logan freshman cage tournament last night at Chillicothe. The Tigers held a slight one-point margin at the end of the first period. At halftime they were on top 22-19.

However, in the third quarter the sharp outside shooting of the Redskins began to have a telling effect. By the start of the fourth period they had moved to a 32-29 lead.

Dan Speakman of Circleville garnered high point laurels with 18. Jordan and Strausbaugh had 16 and 13 respectively for the Redskins.

The Tiger frosh have a 3-11 overall record this season. Tomorrow they play the Logan Elm freshmen and Feb. 27 they close out the season with Washington C. H.

BASKET FOR A BUCK—Ohio State's All-American Gary Bradds is about to score another one here in recent game against Wisconsin, a game in which he notched 40 points for the sixth consecutive game he has reached that total. The Bucks are pressing Michigan for the Big Ten title.

OSU Now Tied In Big Ten Race

CHICAGO (AP)—The race for the Big Ten basketball championship is on full force between Ohio State and Michigan with Minnesota holding an outside position.

Minnesota knocked off the second-ranked Wolverines, 89-75, Tuesday night to pull Michigan into a first-place tie with Ohio State.

Minnesota also advanced its cause by moving within one game of the league lead.

Ohio State, after winning three straight titles, tied Illinois for the conference championship last year and is in position to make it an unprecedented five straight crowns.

Final County All-Loop Unit To Be Named

Pickaway County basketball loop coaches will pick an All-Loop team this year. The squad will be announced shortly after the county schools have completed tournament play.

Teays Valley, a Class AA school not competing in the county league, has asked their team members not be considered for all-county honors.

Viking coach Russ Gregg, in making the request, pointed out it would not be fair since they compete on a different level.

Although playing an independent schedule this year, the Vikings have seen action largely against other double A schools.

IT CURRENTLY appears this will be the final All-County unit as such. Next year the Westfall District will be consolidated into one high school.

That school has already been accepted as a member of the Scioto Valley Conference. Others in the conference are Logan Elm, Laurelville, Union, Paint Valley and Piketon.

Teays Valley will be a member of the South Suburban League along with Pleasant View, Franklin Heights and Hamilton Twp.

A Teays Valley player, however, will still be eligible for the Bob Bowsher Award, given by The Herald annually to the outstanding county player as selected by a vote of the coaches.

This award was won last year by Williamsport's Rick Pond. Next year it will continue to be awarded to a county player from either Teays Valley, Westfall or Logan Elm.

CHS Boosters Meet Tonight

The Circleville High School Athletic Booster Club will meet 8 p. m. today at the high school, it was announced by Bob Chapman, club president.

Chapman noted plans for the annual wrestling and basketball banquet will be discussed. The two final fund raising projects the club has planned for the current year also will be aired.

Sectional Tourney To Start Friday

High School basketball tournament time is here.

Last Saturday, Circleville defeated Delaware Hayes. Tonight Teays Valley will play Walnut Ridge and Friday the Teays Valley Sectional action will begin.

Kicking off the Class A teams on the tournament trail will be Monroe and Berne Union at 7 p. m. At 8:30 Lancaster Fenwick and Amanda will play.

Then on Saturday, Logan Elm meets Madison South at 1:30 p. m. Darby plays Williamsport at 3 in the afternoon session. The night session finds the winner of the Berne Union-Monroe game playing Jackson High School while the winner of the Amanda-Fenwick game will play The Plains of Mt. Sterling.

A LOOK at the records of competing teams indicates it should be a well balanced struggle. At the time of the drawing in Westerville, coaches listed these records for their teams:

Williamsport, 14-5; Jackson, 11-7; Logan Elm, 10-7; Bishop Fenwick, 9-8; Berne Union, 8-8; Madison South, 7-10; The Plains, 6-9; Darby, 4-11; Monroe, 4-15; Amanda, 2-15.

Since then, Williamsport has defeated The Plains, Logan Elm has lost to Teays Valley, Jackson has dropped a game to Berne Union and Darby was thumped by Laurelville.

The Monroe Indians will be taking their 4-15 record into the tourney against Berne Union. Berne Union was a definite contender in the Fairfield County league race but dropped by the wayside in the last two weeks of the season.

Against Jackson Friday, Berne Union won, 79-65. And should the Fairfield County team turn the tables on Monroe, they would meet Jackson again Saturday.

Jackson has split with Berne Union, winning the first meeting 69-54. Friday the Wildcats got off to a slow start and were down by 20 points at the end of the third quarter. (The Herald mistakenly had listed it at 64-34 when it should have been 64-44.)

FRIDAY'S second game pits

two Fairfield County rivals in Lancaster Bishop Fenwick and Amanda - Clearcreek. Amanda won only two games all year while Fenwick finished the season with a 10-8 record. The Lancaster team lost most of its games early in the season, and is thought by some of the coaches to be a "dark-horse" contender in the bottom bracket of the Teays Valley tournament.

Madison South's record may also prove to be deceptive. The Madison County quintet's schedule includes a number of class AA schools.

Logan Elm has played three class AA schools in Piketon,

Carroll and Teays Valley and three of better class A teams in the state in University, Southeastern and New Lexington St. Aloysius.

The Plains of Mt. Sterling has shown definite improvement this year. A majority of the ten losses suffered by the team came early.

THE UPPER bracket finals will be played Feb. 28 beginning at 8 p. m. and the lower bracket finale will be played Feb. 29 at the same time.

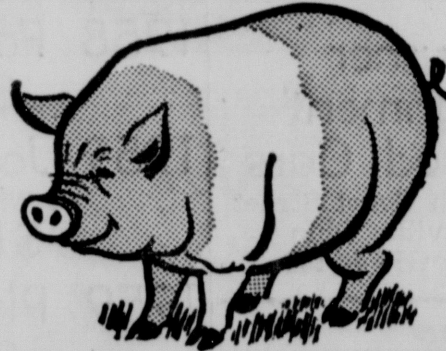

The winners in both brackets will be awarded trophies. They then go to the Central District finals which begin Mar. 4.

Demo Women Hold Meeting

Pickaway County Democratic Women's Club met recently at the 4-H Grange Building at the fairgrounds. Mrs. Margaret Remy, first vice president, assumed the duties of president upon the resignation of Doris May.

Plans were made for a "Meet the candidates night" scheduled in mid-April prior to the May Primary election. Committee chairmen for the event were listed as: Jo Ann Brink, program; Mildred Davis, Mrs. Walton Spangler and Marilyn Bowers, refreshments; Mary Kennedy and Betty Radcliff, decorations.

Kenneth Shepler, chairman of the executive committee, spoke to the group and announced that Gene Tosca, Ashville, will conduct a meeting 8 p. m. Monday for prospective members of a Young Democrats Club. The meeting will be held in the 4-H Grange Building and membership will be open to all Pickaway Countians between 18 and 40 years of age.

A Jefferson's Day Dinner during May was also announced with plans to be announced at a later date.

Federal Workers Due To Get Holiday Friday

Because the national holiday of Washington's Birthday falls on Saturday this year, all Federal employees have been granted the day before Washington's Birthday as a holiday.

Included in the list of offices to close Friday will be the Pickaway County Selective Service office, on the second floor of the courthouse. A previous announcement stated the office would be closed Saturday, however, the office is always closed Saturdays.

Other local offices to close will be the Pickaway ASC County office at 206 S. Court St.; the Chillicothe Social Security office; and other federal department offices.

Brotherhood Meeting Scheduled Thursday

The Trinity Lutheran Church Brotherhood will conduct a regular meeting 7:30 p. m. Thursday in the Parish House.

The program will center on softball. Leading batters to date are Jerry Anderson with a .517 average, Gladden Troutman with two homeruns and Ronald McPherson with three runs-batted-in.

Elks Honor Members, Add 10 New Ones

Circleville BPO Elks Lodge Tuesday evening honored seven veteran members and added 10 new ones.

Receiving pins for 35 years on the membership roster were Cotton Clark, Ed Kreisel, Ferd Pickens and Denny Shelby.

Honored for a half-century of membership were Milton Friedman, George Foresman and Tom Gilliland.

New members initiated were Robert Garrett, James Ullman, Charles Messick, Gene Tosca, Robert Sliwinski, Cecil Vaughn, H. W. Hill, W. E. Malone, Thomas Boyer Jr. and Robert Morgan.

MORGAN joined his father, Emmitt Morgan, and his brother, Leo Morgan, exalted ruler of the lodge, in becoming the third father-and-sons combination on the lodge roster. Other trios are: Dan Eitel and sons Henry and Orrin; and Harry Smith and sons, Don and Roger.

Past exalted rulers were given special recognition. They included four who have held higher office: Ray Davis, Paul Betz and Pickens, each of whom has served as a district deputy grand exalted ruler; and David Goldschmidt, who has served as state president.

The evening's program started with a dinner served by Jimmy Carpenter and his crew.

Teays Valley Music Festival Set Saturday

Excitement is mounting among Teays Valley students participating in this year's Music Festival.

The festival will begin this Saturday at 9 a. m. and will continue until approximately 4 p. m. Students are entered in both solo and ensemble events and have been practicing diligently.

The event will enable students to gain experience in public performance, concentrated musical effort and give them an opportunity to receive constructive criticism from competent musicians.

Individual ratings and awards are listed in the following manner: category A (very difficult music); B (medium difficult music); and C (easy music). Ratings within each category are I plus (superior performance); II (good performance); III (average performance); IV (fair performance). Persons receiving ratings of I, II, or III in any category will receive a ribbon award. Persons receiving a I plus in any category will also receive an award pin.

Judges for the festival are Paul Lawrence, music director from Lakeside; George Marshall, music director from Cardington; James Steele, band director from Frankfort, and James Greishimer, senior at Ohio State University in music education.

Accompanists for the day will be Melanie Hedges, Mrs. Stewart, Linda Hickman, Everett Mehrey, Mrs. Art Deal Jr., Jim Deal, Marilyn Martin, Debbie Flowers, Patricia Cook, Mrs. Charlotte Browning, Judy Mouser, Mary Jo Warner, Mrs. Ed Kuhlwein, Mrs. Chet Peters, Mrs. Boyd Fosnaugh, Suzanne Sawyer, Mr. William Pangburn, Mrs. H. E. Giese, Mrs. Elnora Bansch, Metta Mae Dill, Elizabeth Dunkel, Mrs. James V. White, Connie Karr, Mrs. Janet Houk, Mrs. Joe Peters, Mrs. Warren Bastian, Mrs. Kate Bidwell, Carol Davis, Mrs. Archer Stewart, Mary Ellen Downs and Laura Writsel.

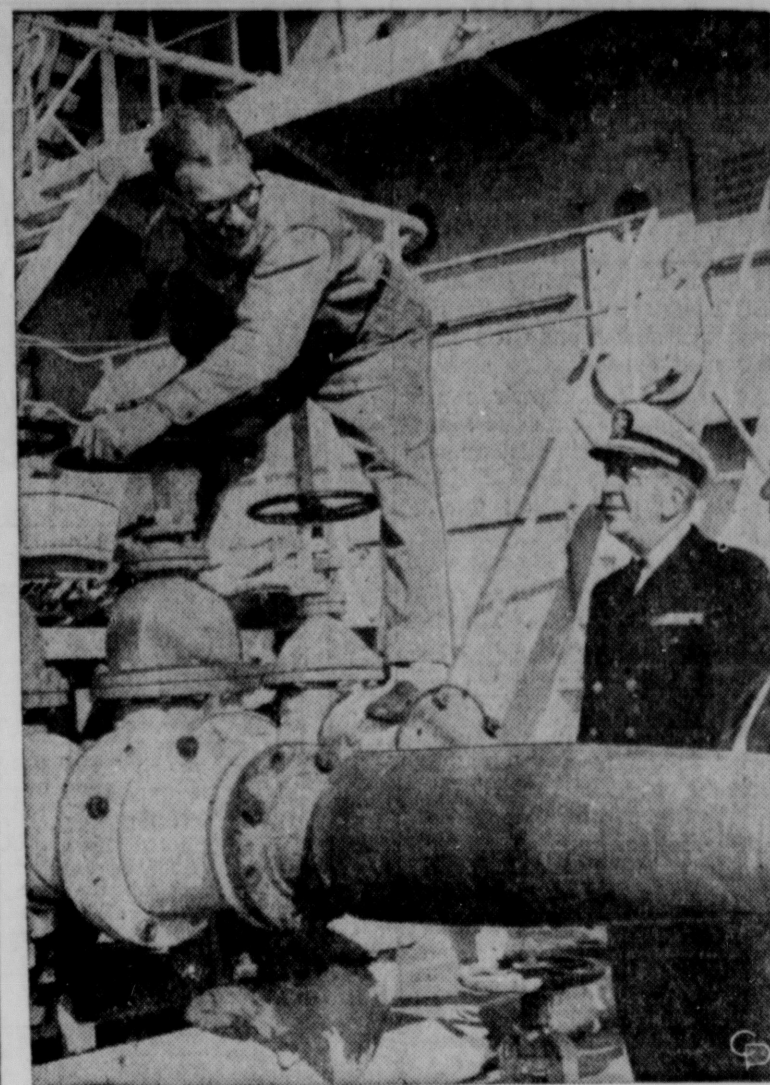

A light lunch is being made available by the Ashville Band Boosters for students who wish to stay during the noon hour.

This event is being sponsored by the Ashville - Harrison, Walnut Twp. and Scioto Twp. Band Boosters. The festival is free and open to the public. Band directors are William Pangburn and Linda Lowry.

Attorney Speaks To Farmer Class

An Ashville attorney was guest speaker for the Teays Valley Adult Farmer Education Class which met Monday evening in the vo-ag classroom of the high school.

David Kraft spoke to the group on "Wills". The legal procedure in making such documents was discussed and a question and answer period followed.

The program scheduled for Feb. 24 will be presented by the Scioto Grain Co. They will sponsor Paul Steckman from the Diamond Crystal Salt Company who will talk and show a movie on "The Salt Business and Its Roll in Today's Agriculture". Steckman will also talk on minerals.

On the same evening, Miss Ann Overturn and Miss Norma Frank, student teachers in the Teays Valley Home Economics Department, have planned a meeting for the wives. Their meeting will consider "Convenience Foods". Baby sitting services will be provided at the high school for those who desire it.

In the previous schedule the "Hay and Silage" show was to be Thursday, Feb. 20. Due to a conflict it will be necessary to postpone the meeting until Thursday, Feb. 27.

Costello Happy about Court's View

NEW YORK (AP)—Frank Costello, onetime reported czar of the New York rackets, says he's "pretty happy" about the U.S. Supreme Court ruling that he's not a deportable alien. "But," he adds, "I always was optimistic."

"Celebrate? No," he told a reporter Monday, a few hours after the court handed down its decision.

"I'm through. I'm through," he said, without indicating whether he referred to his legal battles with the federal government or his retirement from the underworld.

The 73-year-old gambler-racketeer said he was "grateful to the great American Supreme Court" that halted government moves to send him back to his native Italy.

"I always thought myself an American, and I am," he added.

The court decision showed that his gambler's luck was still going strong.

The government had sought deportation on the ground that Costello was an alien twice convicted of crimes. The high court ruled that the convictions occurred before he lost his citizenship in 1959 for having obtained it by fraud.
